BROOKLYN BASEBALL PLAYER IS KILLED IN WILD FIGHT IN MID-AIR

Len Koenecke Dead When Airplane Lands Near Toronto After Strange Battle With Two-Man Crew — Was Sent Away for Balance of Season When Team Defeated

TORONTO, Sept. 17 (P).—Len Koenecke, outfielder of the Brooklyn Dodgers, was killed in mid-air over Long Branch racetrack early today after starting a fight with the two-man crew of the ship. Koenecke chartered the plane at the city airport in Detroit last night. The plane was damaged when the pilot managed to land it.

Pilot William Joseph Mulkeney, of Detroit, and his helper, Irwin Davis, were held by New Toronto police.

Police reported Koenecke was struck over the head with a small fire extinguisher at the end of a wild battle in mid-air.

STARTS FIGHT IN AIR

Koenecke is said to have started a fight when the ship was about half way between Detroit and Buffalo, its destination.

The pilot and helper told police Koenecke appeared under great stress of some kind when they started out on the trip.

Koenecke, released on option by the New York Giants to Buffalo, of the International League, April 7, 1933, was purchased by Brooklyn from Buffalo June 20, 1933.

The Dodgers lost to St. Louis Cardinals, 1-0, yesterday, and Koenecke was sent away for the balance of the season in a move seeming to indicate that the star of last season would not appear again in a Brooklyn uniform.

FIRE DENUDES NUDIST COLONY

Flaming Forests Are Out of Control Near Ontario, California

ONTARIO, Calif., Sept. 16 (P).—The worst brush fire in twenty years in this area spread alarmingly tonight through several canyons north of Ontario, imperiling the lives of several hundred residents, as a southwest wind fanned it along into a five-mile front, and sending a column of nudists into the open.

United States forest rangers, hurriedly summoning 2,000 recruits to aid in battling the flames, said the fire was "utterly out of control."

Although expressing no great fear for the safety of residents in Upper San Antonio Canyon, the fire fighters were apprehensive lest the flames bar their way into the east fork and up to the Glen Ridge settlement, where reside several hundred families.

The fire front was situated tonight about seven miles north of Ontario.

ADAM AND EVE

More than fifty men and women residents of a nudist camp in Stoddard's Canyon fled from the camp, as the flames flared in that area late today.

The nudists had taken advantage of a warm sun to tan themselves on the grounds of their many-acre camp.

"There goes Eve!" shouted one woman conserving corps worker, as a young woman hastily retreated before flying embers from the fire to seek shelter in a sympathetic woman motorist's machine.

"Here comes Adam," exclaimed another as a spindly-legged man, past middle age, was spurred from behind a tree when a spark alighted on his body.

Colleging motorists along the line pulled the curtains on their cars, as they allowed the retreating trimettes of the nudist colony to take shelter.

BOATS CAPSIZE IN HIGH WINDS

Eight Sailing Craft Dump Crews In Puget Sound—Other Vessels Are Wrecked

SEATTLE, Sept. 16 (P).—Crews of eight "flaties" were pitched into Puget Sound yesterday when a thirty-four-mile-an-hour blow capsize their boats during the Seattle Yacht Club's commodore race. Power boats picked up all of the sailors unhurt.

The coast guard hurried to the aid of six sailboats and cruisers, and pulled one cruiser from Gedney Island, near Everett, after it went adrift off Norma Beach, eight miles away.

A cruiser rescued three youths from an overturned "flatie" off Overgreen Point, in Lake Washington, and a harbor patrol boat picked up a sailboat in distress off Laurelhurst.

Other craft were forced to seek shelter.

U.S.-GERMAN TREATY ENDS

Most Favored Nation Agreement Abrogated at Request of Berlin

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (P).—Germany was ordered stricken today from the list of nations which have enjoyed trade favors under the reciprocal tariff programme.

President Roosevelt notified the Treasury that on October 15 "the United States will cease to be bound by the provisions of Article VI of the Treaty of Friendship, Commerce and Consular Rights between Germany and the United States, signed December 8, 1923, providing for most-favored-nation treatment in respect to customs duties."

The treaty was abrogated at Germany's request.

The immediate practical effect will be the loss to Germany of reduced tariffs on approximately 100 articles which were granted in trade agreements concluded with Sweden, Belgium and Haiti.

Germany also will be denied any concessions granted in trade agreements now under negotiation with France, Italy, Canada, The Netherlands, Switzerland and other countries, unless a new German-American agreement is concluded before they become effective.

THREE KILLED ON MAINLAND

Traffic Accidents Near Vancouver Claim Lives—One Arrest Made

VANCOUVER, Sept. 16 (P).—Three separate automobile accidents took a toll of three lives in the vicinity of Vancouver late today and tonight, and the driver of one of the cars involved is held by police on a technical charge of manslaughter.

William Black, eighteen-year-old youth of 104th Drive, died three hours after being admitted to hospital at New Westminster from head injuries received when he ran from behind a parked car into the path of an oncoming truck on Marine Drive.

Walking along Marine Drive, three blocks distant from the previous accident, Mr. Bachison, Burns Road, before he could be taken to hospital, he suffered severe head and chest injuries. The driver of the car stated that he was blinded by the lights of another vehicle and did not see Bachison on the road. He was taken into custody on a technical charge of manslaughter.

CAR OVERTURNED
B. Spencer, Marpole, was almost instantly killed when the car in which he and another man, Fletcher Lyness, French Street, were riding, overturned on No. 3 Road, Lulu Island.

Lyness escaped with minor cuts and bruises, but Spencer succumbed to severe chest injuries a few minutes after being admitted to hospital.

According to police the car was negotiating a bend in the road when a wheel gave away and the vehicle overturned into the ditch.

Child Killed In Runaway Automobile

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16 (P).—Left alone in a parked automobile, a sixteen-month-old boy was killed today as the machine's brakes slipped and permitted the auto to rush down a steep incline and crash into a palm tree.

The baby's sister, Miss Dora Reyes, told sheriff's officers she left him in the auto while she entered the home of a friend for a brief visit. The infant died a few hours after being taken from the wreckage to an emergency hospital.

England Parades Mechanized Weapons

England's quiet countryside was turned into a veritable battlefield when the British army held large-scale manoeuvres near Woodcut with the most modern of mechanized weapons. The occasion marked the institution of something entirely new in warfare—a robot army. Here are some 200 tanks, part of the section going through drills, awaiting orders to move along the country road.

Woman Says Favorable Verdict Was Offered for $1,500

SEATTLE, Sept. 16 (P).—The wife of a literary agent serving a penitentiary sentence told a Superior Court jury today that John A. Kinnear, son of a prominent Seattle family, and Edward Shay, had offered to "fix" a jury which convicted her husband of grand larceny a year ago.

Mrs. Verna P. Ashe, Mount Vernon, Wash., testified that during the trial of her husband, James Ashe, Kinnear and Shay approached her and offered to win a favorable verdict for $1,500.

Shay, a sixty-four-year-old real estate man, is charged with soliciting the money and Kinnear with abetting him by agreeing that his own vote, as a member of the jury, would be influenced by the payment of the money.

WEISS INQUEST IS COMPLETED

More Rumors of Plot to Murder Senator Long Are Heard in Louisiana

BATON ROUGE, La., Sept. 16 (P).—After hearing testimony from Joe Messina, the late Senator Huey P. Long's favorite bodyguard, and other bodyguards who poured lead into the body of Dr. C. A. Weiss Jr., the night he mortally wounded the Senator in the State Capitol, the jury returned a verdict that Dr. Weiss died from wounds in the head, chest and abdomen.

Under Louisiana law, a coroner's jury is required only to decide the form of a person's death, and does not fix the blame in such cases. Further action is left to the prosecutor and grand jury.

Meanwhile, James O'Connor, Sr., assistant attorney-general at New Orleans, said a man, whom he declined to name, had come to his office and made an affidavit respecting an alleged murder plot against Senator Long, and the affidavit had been "turned over to the proper authorities." He refused to say what authorities.

At DeQueen, Ark., Dr. George S. Long, Tulsa, Okla., brother of the assassinated "dictator," said followers of the late Senator had evidence that a plot to murder him was instigated by four Congressmen in a New Orleans hotel.

Police state that the safeblowing operation must have taken considerable time.

GALE RAGING OVER BRITAIN

Ship in Distress Reports Fifty Members of Crew Are Injured

LONDON, Sept. 17 (P).—An eighty-mile gale raged throughout the night about the British Isles, imperiling navigation and battering at least one ship, the British freighter Mary Kingsley, which wireless an SOS call early today off the Irish coast.

Sea pounding the coast from the German steamer Eisenach from her moorings at Dover, where it has been undergoing repairs as a result of her collision with the British battleship Ramillies on August 30, and swept her across the harbor. Tugs managed to secure her after a long battle.

An unnamed submarine was carried away from a towing vessel in the storm-lashed Bristol Channel, and ships were warned to watch for it. The submarine had been sold by the British Navy to be broken up. The Mary Kingsley rolled heavily in towering seas off the Irish coast with a cargo of locomotives. Most of her crew of fifty were reported injured. The steamer sailed from Liverpool for East Africa.

The Belgian steamer Jean Jadot was communicating with the Kingsley and offered to proceed to her if needed, and the British steamer Tamara reported she hoped to reach the Kingsley by 11:30 (G.M.T.) Tuesday.

Residents of the coast cities and towns waited for daylight to begin checking up on damage wrought ashore by the storm.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 16 (P).—Corporation Counsel D. E. McTaggart has ruled that charter powers of the Mayor do not override those delegated to civic committee by the City Council.

REGINA, Sept. 16 (P).—Compulsory features of the Canadian Wheat Board statute were put there to assure that the board would "get a fair deal," Prime Minister Bennett declared here tonight. ABERDEEN, Wash., Sept. 16 (P).—Samuel Benn, founder of the City of Aberdeen, died at 10:07 o'clock tonight at his home, after several weeks' illness. He was 100 years, two weeks and fourteen days old.

Benn came to the Lower Chehalis Valley in the Spring of 1863, purchasing all of what now comprises the business district of Aberdeen for less than $1,000. He obtained 700 acres at $1.15 an acre.

In Interview With Paris Paper, Italian Dictator Says Sanctions May Mean Recasting of Map of Europe—Trade Boycott Viewed As Possibility of League Discussions

Smaller Nations Join Voices To Protest Against Conflict

PARIS, Sept. 16 (P).—Premier Mussolini warned the world again tonight, the newspaper Le Matin reported in a published statement of Il Duce from his Rome correspondent, that sanctions against Italy by the League mean war, "and the danger of recasting the map of Europe."

"Understand me well," Il Duce was quoted as saying, "we will never commit an act of hostility against any European nation, but if an act of war is committed against us there'll be war."

"Italy does not want it," the statement in Le Matin continued, "but she is not afraid of it. Those who will have loosed the catastrophe will bear the responsibility before history."

Gas Prices In Nelson Perplexing

NELSON, Sept. 16 (P).—After strenuous and detailed quizzing for an answer to the riddle why Nelson has a base price for gasoline out of line with prices at Kootenay centres much farther from the source of supply, Mr. Justice M. A. MacDonald, who is holding hearings at the Royal Commission on Coal and Petroleum Products, and C. H. O'Halloran, counsel to the commission, gave up the attempt to find satisfactory answers here. They decided to look to the head offices of the oil companies at Vancouver for elucidation of the situation.

Civic Workers May Now Run for Office

VANCOUVER, Sept. 16 (P).—The City Council today adopted a resolution to the effect that there was nothing to prevent civic employees from seeking election to the Federal or Provincial Parliaments. If they were elected they would be granted leave of absence without salary, but without incurring their seniority rights.

NEW EUROPEAN CRISIS FLAMES

German-Lithuanian Dispute Arouses Fears of Possible War

LONDON, Sept. 16 (P).—The long-raging German-Lithuanian dispute over Memel had bobbed up anew in its familiar role as a potential European source of trouble. Adolf Hitler's attack on Lithuania last night, followed by the Lithuanian Foreign Minister's retort at Geneva today, raised the shadow of this old menace over Europe, just as the Ethiopian issue was approaching a crisis.

The Memel territory was taken from Germany after the Great War. The Lithuanians seized the region by force on January 15, 1923, after its government had been administered by the allied nations under terms of the Versailles Treaty. Sovereignty was accorded Lithuania in May, 1924, and since that time German and Lithuanian elements have been at odds, with occasional attendant disorders.

The Memel elections, during which the long controversy will reach a crisis, fall on September 20, while military strategists are predicting the first clash of arms between Italy and Ethiopia in Africa may be expected about the same time.

Official quarters in London disclosed that they had been assured by Lithuania that a fair and orderly election will be held, but sources close to the Government recalled many setbacks which guarantor powers have encountered in their persistent efforts to push up quarrels over the rightful representations of Lithuanians and Germans in the Memel Government.

Schooner Seth Parker Towed Into Honolulu After Battle With Southern Storms

HONOLULU, Sept. 16 (P).—The four-masted schooner Seth Parker, which sailed from Seattle, was towed into Honolulu today, in what appeared to be her last haven.

In low of two tugs, the Seth Parker, which, when sailed by Phillips' Lord, radioed a distress call, was towed slowly into the harbor. She appeared at daylight off Diamond Head in tow of the coast guard cutter Tiger, which went to her aid a week ago, 600 miles south of Honolulu.

The Tiger was dispatched in response to appeals stating the Seth Parker was leaking badly and in danger because of failure of pumps.

Unions' Convention Would Nationalize Banks of Dominion

Trades and Labor Congress Meeting at Halifax—Acting President Pleads for the Social Rehabilitation of Canada's Youth

HALIFAX, Sept. 16 (U.P.).—Canadian labor's "parliament"—the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada—voiced a "demand" today for the nationalization of the Dominion's banking system. Reaffirming its stand against private control of the banks, the congress declared unanimously for Government control, asserting the privately-owned institutions did not guarantee the public "the protection to which it is entitled."

The resolution, sponsored by the Montreal Trades and Labor Council, evoked scant debate among the 200 delegates attending the congress' annual convention that had opened a few hours before. But controversy swiftly developed around a following resolution urging issuance of new money to finance public projects, including homes for the needy.

It was aimed at "using the national credit" to avoid "crushing the citizens with an impossible burden of debt." Monetary stability would be insured by withdrawing the new currency gradually from circulation.

Earlier the representatives of more than 100,000 Canadian workers had heard Patrick M. Draper, of Ottawa, acting president, utter an appeal for the social rehabilitation of the country's youth and call for the road to uniform labor legislation to be paved through revision of the British North America Act.

Speaking to the congress for the first time since he stepped into Tom Moore's shoes when the former president joined the Employment and Social Commission, Mr. Draper said there must be action to prevent the "demoralization" of 500,000 men of twenty-five years who have yet to draw a pay envelope. He held that there should be vocational guidance services, further development of technical education, provision of recreation centres and effective administration of employment exchanges.

UNION CAN DO MUCH
Overseas the prospect of war was pointing a lesson to the need for a "vital and effective trade union movement at all costs." It could do much in the preservation of peace and the eradication of dictatorship's "evil genius."

Vice-President Percy Bengough, of Vancouver, spoke briefly of the congress' work at the morning's opening session.

Getting down to business in the afternoon, the delegates quickly revised seven resolutions through the convention. All passed without debate except one urging the Ontario Government to prescribe 66 2-3 per cent of earnings as the standard compensation for disabled workmen.

Fred White, of Calgary, former member of the Alberta Legislature, belittled the 2-3 per cent insufficient. Vice-President Bengough supported the proposal, though he held that it "could be stronger."

Immediate abolition of Canada's relief camps and withdrawal of Section 98 of the Criminal Code were urged today by Winnipeg and Calgary councils at the convention.

Tuckahoe is a name applied by the Algonquin Indians to many roundish roots. Specifically it included the golden club and the arrow arum, both having fleshy rootstocks, acrid when fresh, but rendered edible by cooking and abounding in starch.

Honor Members Killed Performing Duties

Erected by popular subscription from the 2,500 living members of the famous R.C.M.P., a new stone memorial to the forty-eight officers and men who, since the force was started in 1873, lost their lives in the execution of their duty, is shown here being unveiled at a colorful ceremony at the Mounted Police Barracks at Regina, Sask. The Rev. A. E. G. Hendy, R.C.M.P. chaplain, to the left of the flag-draped memorial is shown reciting the inscription to unveil the memorial from Assistant Commissioner S. T. Wood, standing to the right. In three parts of a square are drawn up officers and men, two flanks in red uniforms and one in brown. The new stone memorial contains, among others, the names of members of the famous Dover patrol who drowned en route to the Arctic in 1911; of Inspector L. J. Sampson, killed in the relief camp rioting at Saskatoon, Sask., two years ago; Corporal L. V. Ralls, killed by bandits at Foam Lake, Sask., and the most recent, Corporal M. Moriarty, shot down by an Alberta madman a few months ago. Inset is a close-up view showing front of the new memorial.

B.C. Agriculture Is Making Gains After Promising Harvests

Increase of About 10 Per Cent in Volume and Close to $3,000,000 in Value Looked for by Industry This Year—Prices Are Firmer

"BRITISH Columbia agricultural products are expected to show an increase of between $2,500,000 and $3,000,000 this year, and that is a conservative estimate," in the opinion of experienced officials of the British Columbia Department of Agriculture, in close touch with actual operations of the year.

Last year agricultural production in the province was worth $39,826,141, after a steady and consistent return from the extreme low level of little more than $34,000,000 in 1932. This year, if present expectations are realized, the value will be close to $43,000,000.

INCREASES NOTED
Gains and losses in the year, as far as it has gone, cancel out, to leave a preponderance of favorable factors pointing to a definite increase in total volume of production; as well as a strong tendency to firmer prices over a wide range of commodities.

Market control appears as only an indirect factor in the case, for many of the gains are being registered in uncontrolled commodities such as hay and fodder; and in livestock where control efforts broke down.

FIELD CROPS UP
Field crops worth $13,158,000 last year, are definitely on the upward grade this season, led by a bumper hay crop, after early spring rains, and a successful harvest. An increase of $1,000,000 or better is predicted for field crops alone.

Dairying, worth $9,901,000 last year, also saw a better season, with more stable conditions in the butter market, and a definitely known increase in sales of ice cream, the latter a reflection of some improvement in the buying habits of the public.

Fruits and vegetables, worth $8,867,000 last year combined, had gains and losses, the former predominating. The small fruit crop was more successful, processed fruits moved to the United Kingdom and other markets at better prices and in steadier volume; and the main fruit crop, while shorter, is bringing better prices. In apples, Nova Scotia's misfortune was British Columbia's benefit, this year.

Poultry worth $2,246,000, livestock worth $3,051,000, and miscellaneous products worth $1,603,000, were component elements of last year's production.

LIVESTOCK RECOVERING
This year livestock definitely took a better place in the scale, despite the outcry raised against imported animals in some quarters. Prices for live animals crept up, through fluctuations, to steadier levels.

Recent quotations from a British Columbia Coast source showed steers bringing $5 to $5.50 a hundredweight on the hoof, nearly double the prices of last year; good lambs were quoted at $6.50 on the same basis, and feeder hogs at from $9 to $10.50, the latter a big increase in returns for pork. Quite uncontrolled by market endeavors, pork has become the star performer of the year for the livestock man.

"DEMAND GOOD"
The same source under date September 16 said "sheep and lambs are holding steady—the hog market is steady, and the demand good. It has been some years since British Columbia livestock men read reports of that nature; and while prices are not yet what the growers desire, they are definitely on the way to firmer levels than has been the case for three years past, it is believed.

This year the hog crop in British Columbia was exceptional, and will make a handsome addition to total value of production at the year's end.

The bees, though without man's benefits of minimum wages or regulated hours, maintained the British Columbia honey crop, with excellent prospects for the balance of the year. Acreage in productive goods that have a waiting market, was improved.

SOME REVERSES
It was not all gain. The berry crop had a short season, with some of the increase represented in jams and processed fruits. The tomato crop from greenhouses, dragged through the first section of the year, and, despite marketing endeavors, much of it had to be shipped to the Prairies, for what it would bring.

There was a reduction in the number of farmers "on relief." Farmers in the Central Interior, assisted with relief grain for livestock feed last year, are ending this harvest with their barns full of their own grain, and with better prospects. In almost all sections of the province, numbers of men employed on British Columbia farms increased; while purely sustenance operations carried numbers of men who otherwise would have been on relief.

With a variety of climates and diverse soil conditions, British Columbia has eight or ten different types of agricultural endeavor. Viewing the scene as a whole, those in closest touch with the industry are predicting an increase this year not far short of 10 per cent in the volume, and $3,000,000 in value of the combined output.

DISCUSS BOYCOTT
GENEVA, Sept. 16 (U.P.).—Certain League of Nations members, seeking a way to keep Mussolini from war, were reported from reliable sources tonight to be considering a "protective" economic boycott of Italy if she should launch unprovoked hostilities in Ethiopia.

The disclosure came as the League Assembly concluded a general debate of fidelity to the League covenant and climaxed by a diplomatic brush between Soviet Russia and Poland, during which the Polish delegate walked out on a speech by Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Foreign Commissar. Informed quarters maintained that this "protective boycott" could not be considered tantamount to an economic blockade. For the moment the fundamental idea is a self-denying ordinance whereby League states would pledge themselves to have no economic relations with Italy.

NO PROPOSALS
The British delegation, asked about the boycott reports, authorized the following statement: "The British and French Governments had had from time to time

Fulford Cubs Are Guests at Sidney

SIDNEY, Sept. 16.—The First Sidney "A" Pack of Cubs, under Akela G. King, joined by "B" Pack, under Akela Roddy Hammond, and "C" Pack, in charge of Jim Baldwin, entertained the Fulford Harbor Cubs on Saturday at Sidney.

The morning was spent in games and contests. A hot lunch, served at the Guide and Scout Hall, was much enjoyed.

The afternoon was enjoyed with rambles over the district. After tea the visitors returned to Fulford Harbor on the City Peck ferry.

Beethoven was a violinist and organist, and he also played the clavier and viola.

Careless Thief Pays With Life
MAKHACH-KALA, Russia, Sept. 16 (U.P.).—A careless thief who did not bother to plug up an oil line his gang had tapped paid for his nonchalance today with his life.

Police executed Ibrachenko Koshlitan, who had drilled holes in a pipeline here. They sentenced fourteen members of his gang to prison. Large quantities of oil flowed out over the steps after the robbers had pierced the pipes, enabling authorities to discover the crime quickly.

AN ACT OF WAR
The punitive article of the League covenant says that if any League member resorts to war in disregard of its League obligations, it shall be deemed to have committed an act of war against all members of the League.

The members then would undertake immediately to subject it to severance of all trade and financial relations. Further, League members are agreed to mutually support each other in any financial or economic measures undertaken.

Three small nations—Panama, Haiti and the Irish Free State—through their representatives pleaded for peace through the League covenant before the diplomatic clash occurred between Litvinoff and Joseph Beck, Poland's Foreign Minister.

The Lithuanian Foreign Minister, Stasys Losorius, also took occasion to retort to Adolf Hitler's Reichstag speech of last night on the Memei question.

Declaring Lithuania was "ready to proceed at all times to a loyal exchange of views" and to observe all international engagements, Losorius added:

"The annals of my country bear evidence of the injustices it has suffered but Lithuania remains serene in the consciousness of its inviolate honor."

CRITICAL ALLUSION
Beck, revived the controversy begun Saturday by Litvinoff when he made what was regarded as a critical allusion to the non-aggression pact between Germany and Poland.

He said Litvinoff's remarks were "a matter of complete indifference to Poland," but that as a representative of one of the members of the League he could not avoid the conclusion "that such unusual procedure would tend to damage the co-operation essential to League meetings."

He made no reference to the Italo-Ethiopian dispute, which was interpreted as meaning Poland will join Germany in a policy of complete neutrality.

When Litvinoff mounted the rostrum this afternoon to reply to Beck, the Polish delegation left the hall. Litvinoff, voicing regret at Beck's speech, said he merely gave the assembly his estimation of different conceptions of pacts between nations and that there was no justification for Beck's attack.

Soviet Russia, he said, always has been friendly to Poland.

IRELAND'S STAND
Eamon de Valera, president of the Irish Free State, joined eagerly in the rally around the League covenant. His sentiments were echoed by Galileo Solla, of Panama, and General Alfred Nemours, the delegate for Haiti.

Almost in the same words used by the British and French delegates last week and repeated by spokesmen from other nations, De Valera told the assembly:

"We have entered on obligations under the covenant. We shall fulfill those obligations in letter and in spirit. We have given our word and we shall keep it."

REJECTION EXPECTED
GENEVA, Sept. 16 (U.P.).—The League of Nations approaches its testing point. The League's five-power committee meets tomorrow to consider its peace plan designed to prevent conflict between Italy and Ethiopia.

Experts worked on it all day today, modifying and amending in the hope that "last-minute" changes would make it acceptable. But the amendments do not change the plan in principle. There is nothing in it, it was learned in British circles, which gives political or military control of Ethiopia to the Italians.

As that is what the Italians want, even the most optimistic observers now expect Italy will reject the scheme and resort to war.

SENTENCED TO GALLOWS

Former Winnipeg Boxer Is Convicted of Murdering Woman in London

LONDON, Sept. 16 (U.P.).—Raymond Bousquet, Winnipeg boxer, known in the ring as Del Fontaine, today was found guilty of murdering at the Old Bailey—and sentenced to hang.

The trial was brief. Fontaine, a light-heavyweight, was accused of the murder of twenty-one-year-old Hilda Meeks, with whom he had been friendly during the two years or so he campaigned in England, and also of the attempted murder of the girl's mother, who was seriously wounded in a shooting affray at the Meek's home in South London on July 10.

HEAD INJURIES BLAMED
The prosecution charged that Fontaine, who has a wife and three children in Winnipeg, shot both the girl and her mother in a jealous rage. In preliminary hearings defence witnesses testified Fontaine had been suffering from fits of depression in the past few months and the defence plea was that Fontaine in his ring career suffered head injuries that affected his brain.

The shooting occurred late on the night of July 10, when Fontaine returned with Miss Meeks to her home and she talked to another man—on the telephone. Fontaine interrupted the conversation. The boxer surrendered quietly to police, who disarmed him.

The punitive article of the League covenant says that if any League member resorts to war in disregard of its League obligations, it shall be deemed to have committed an act of war against all members of the League.

The members then would undertake immediately to subject it to severance of all trade and financial relations. Further, League members are agreed to mutually support each other in any financial or economic measures undertaken.

Three small nations—Panama, Haiti and the Irish Free State—through their representatives pleaded for peace through the League covenant before the diplomatic clash occurred between Litvinoff and Joseph Beck, Poland's Foreign Minister.

The Lithuanian Foreign Minister, Stasys Losorius, also took occasion to retort to Adolf Hitler's Reichstag speech of last night on the Memei question.

Declaring Lithuania was "ready to proceed at all times to a loyal exchange of views" and to observe all international engagements, Losorius added:

"The annals of my country bear evidence of the injustices it has suffered but Lithuania remains serene in the consciousness of its inviolate honor."

CRITICAL ALLUSION
Beck, revived the controversy begun Saturday by Litvinoff when he made what was regarded as a critical allusion to the non-aggression pact between Germany and Poland.

He said Litvinoff's remarks were "a matter of complete indifference to Poland," but that as a representative of one of the members of the League he could not avoid the conclusion "that such unusual procedure would tend to damage the co-operation essential to League meetings."

He made no reference to the Italo-Ethiopian dispute, which was interpreted as meaning Poland will join Germany in a policy of complete neutrality.

When Litvinoff mounted the rostrum this afternoon to reply to Beck, the Polish delegation left the hall. Litvinoff, voicing regret at Beck's speech, said he merely gave the assembly his estimation of different conceptions of pacts between nations and that there was no justification for Beck's attack.

Soviet Russia, he said, always has been friendly to Poland.

IRELAND'S STAND
Eamon de Valera, president of the Irish Free State, joined eagerly in the rally around the League covenant. His sentiments were echoed by Galileo Solla, of Panama, and General Alfred Nemours, the delegate for Haiti.

Almost in the same words used by the British and French delegates last week and repeated by spokesmen from other nations, De Valera told the assembly:

"We have entered on obligations under the covenant. We shall fulfill those obligations in letter and in spirit. We have given our word and we shall keep it."

REJECTION EXPECTED
GENEVA, Sept. 16 (U.P.).—The League of Nations approaches its testing point. The League's five-power committee meets tomorrow to consider its peace plan designed to prevent conflict between Italy and Ethiopia.

Experts worked on it all day today, modifying and amending in the hope that "last-minute" changes would make it acceptable. But the amendments do not change the plan in principle. There is nothing in it, it was learned in British circles, which gives political or military control of Ethiopia to the Italians.

As that is what the Italians want, even the most optimistic observers now expect Italy will reject the scheme and resort to war.

SENTENCED TO GALLOWS
Former Winnipeg Boxer Is Convicted of Murdering Woman in London

LONDON, Sept. 16 (U.P.).—Raymond Bousquet, Winnipeg boxer, known in the ring as Del Fontaine, today was found guilty of murdering at the Old Bailey—and sentenced to hang.

The trial was brief. Fontaine, a light-heavyweight, was accused of the murder of twenty-one-year-old Hilda Meeks, with whom he had been friendly during the two years or so he campaigned in England, and also of the attempted murder of the girl's mother, who was seriously wounded in a shooting affray at the Meek's home in South London on July 10.

HEAD INJURIES BLAMED
The prosecution charged that Fontaine, who has a wife and three children in Winnipeg, shot both the girl and her mother in a jealous rage. In preliminary hearings defence witnesses testified Fontaine had been suffering from fits of depression in the past few months and the defence plea was that Fontaine in his ring career suffered head injuries that affected his brain.

The shooting occurred late on the night of July 10, when Fontaine returned with Miss Meeks to her home and she talked to another man—on the telephone. Fontaine interrupted the conversation. The boxer surrendered quietly to police, who disarmed him.

Careless Thief Pays With Life
MAKHACH-KALA, Russia, Sept. 16 (U.P.).—A careless thief who did not bother to plug up an oil line his gang had tapped paid for his nonchalance today with his life.

Police executed Ibrachenko Koshlitan, who had drilled holes in a pipeline here. They sentenced fourteen members of his gang to prison. Large quantities of oil flowed out over the steps after the robbers had pierced the pipes, enabling authorities to discover the crime quickly.

Government Not Ready to Extend School Control

Minister of Education Discusses Problems With Trustees' Association at Convention—Defends Department—Stresses Need for Strict Supervision of Health of Children

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS, B.C., Sept. 16 (C.P.).—"We are not ready to take over municipal school boards, so the question is not a matter of practical politics and we need not discuss it," the British Columbia School Trustees' Association was told today by Hon. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education.

Dr. Weir, speaking on the report of H. B. King on school finance, stated that, speaking personally, he may have to be done by an appointment board free from political influence, local as well as any other kind.

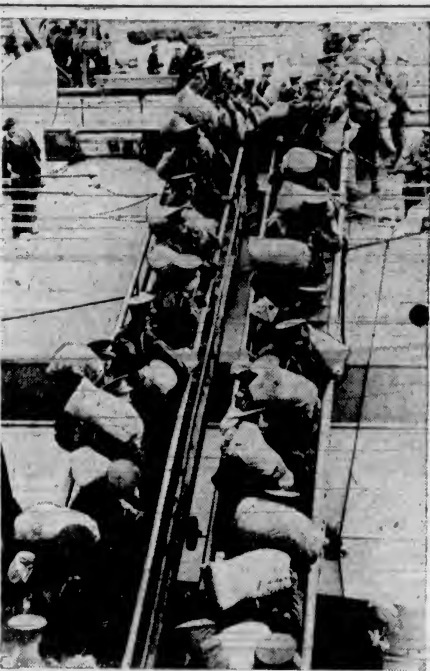

The Minister justified his supervision of rural school administration by pointing out that the Department of Education paid a large percentage of the expense and he would be derelict in his responsibility if he allowed certain alleged extravagances to continue. He said that in eighty-four rural school districts the department was paying 84 per cent of the standard salaries; in fifty-eight districts, 95 per cent of the salaries; and in ninety-three, 75 per cent of the salaries.

Dr. Weir laid emphasis on the necessity of paying greater attention to health measures, stating that if the sources of infection were not dried up it would be much more costly at the other end. He stated that in a survey of 87,000 children in Canada in 1929, 75,000 were found with physical defects. He suggested that the association use its influence to have the Federal authorities re-establish the grant of $150,000 voted in 1931 for vocational education annually but which it had never been able to pay.

He also suggested that there was nothing in the British North America Act to prevent the Federal authorities from assisting adult education. His own department had appropriated $15,000 for this purpose, he said, and $15,000 for recreational activities and hoped to extend this work. He added that the department hoped to introduce direct vocational guidance work as a natural extension of the Apprenticeship Act.

After describing the correspondence educational work conducted by his department, the speaker put in a good word for school teachers of the province.

"There has been a good deal of criticism of teachers," he said, "but I wish to remind you that the young men and women are finding more lucrative work outside the ranks of teachers. After all, we can not ignore the claims of the teachers for it is in the best interests of the child that we have good teachers."

GALE LASHES ISLAND DAMAGING VESSELS

While endeavoring to run a line in the pounding seas, from his boat to that of Len Hoyok, which had lost its canopy and was badly battered and in difficulty, the rope became wound around the propeller of the Lumaco. Both boats, helpless, were carried before the gale and tossed up on Whistlers Point where Mr. Patton's boat was stove in on one side.

One launch, owned by E. Cave, and a score of rowboats were thrown about on high seas and pounded by waves at Poul Bay, but escaped extensive damage.

Heavy seas continued all day Sunday to pound over the Ross Bay seawall, and sections of the roadway were littered with driftwood and small logs. Several cars were stalled during the day when they were drenched with flying spray. Beginning at 10:15 o'clock Sunday morning, the gale increased in velocity until between 12 noon and 1 p.m., when it reached its maximum of fifty-two miles an hour. It moderated for a time in the afternoon, changed to the southwest with a maximum velocity of forty-four miles an hour, from 11 p.m. until midnight.

At Courtenay the gale, accompanied by torrential rain, demolished a silo on the Urquhart Farm, Sunday afternoon, bringing down a power line which killed five Jersey heifers. Fruit trees in this district were stripped, it was reported.

FERRY TO RESCUE
Mill Bay ferry motorship, Cascade, rescued a disabled launch at 6:30 p.m., Sunday. The sea had smashed the pilot house windows and put the engines out of order, when the Cascade arrived alongside and took the launch in tow for Brentwood.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Stevenson, Saanichton, were caught offshore in Saanich inlet in a small boat, and were forced to land at Senanuis Island, where they spent the night, reaching Brentwood safely yesterday morning.

Hyman Kramer, 139 Cook Street, who received deep and painful cuts on his right hand and wrist, when his boat went ashore near Bamberston, told a graphic story of the fury of the gale. He is deeply appreciative of the courtesy and attention given to him and his companion, P. Lamont, by J. H. McIntosh, plant manager of the British Columbia Cement Works.

GRAPHIC STORY
"We decided that we could not ride the gale and make our way back to Brentwood," Mr. Kramer explained, "although the seas were high. We probably would have been able to do so, but for a circumstance that we had not anticipated. It was that the ventilator over the engine was turned towards the sea. As each wave broke over the bow, it poured water on the engine, and it was not long before it stopped."

"We drifted toward the high rocks near McCurdy Point. We let the anchor go, but it dragged. The boat was pitching and wallowing in the tremendous sea, and the force of the wind carried the canopy top away, and I was thrown against the windshield. It broke and the glass cut my right wrist. A moment later, we drifted against the rocks and Mr. Lamont and I jumped ashore."

"We were soaking wet, and my wrist was bleeding badly. We applied a tourniquet, but this did not stop the flow of blood entirely. We started to climb the steep side of Malahat Mountain, but could find no trail. The work was difficult in the extreme, and after an hour and a half we decided that we had better return. I was almost exhausted, and was weak from the loss of blood.

"It was fortunate that we did descend to the shore, for a young man named Robertson had seen the wrecked boat and had observed us trying to climb the hill. He, with another young man, gallantly came around in their launch and took us off. We were taken to Bamberston."

"Mr. McIntosh, the manager at Bamberston for the British Columbia Cement Works, received us, and I cannot speak too highly of his kindness. I believe that he saved my life, for he called the first aid man of the plant and he skillfully bound up my wrist."

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL
"Mr. McIntosh fed and warmed us, and gave us an opportunity of drying out. He then arranged for us to return to Victoria on the bus. I went to the hospital on my arrival and had five stitches put in my cut wrist and hand."

Mr. Kramer states that the storm was the worst that he had seen in seven years on Saanich Arm.

Loan Application Endorsed; Council Will Meet Shortly

MAYOR David Leeming's action in making application for a $100,000 loan from the Provincial Government for relief projects, was endorsed by the City Council at its meeting last night, but final action deferred until the finance committee reports back to another meeting expected to be held Wednesday.

In the meantime, D. A. MacDonald, comptroller and treasurer, will interview the Mayor in connection with the application, and study the agreement.

The B.C. Electric and the B.C. Telephone companies reported their lines did not suffer serious damage. A few light poles went down, but no section of the city was without light, or telephone service, for more than an hour Sunday.

An awning on the top floor of the Bank of Toronto Building blew free and crashed through a window in the Great West Life Assurance Company's office. Several signs were blown down.

Regular service was maintained by the E. & N. Railway, only one tree at Westholme falling across the line. It was cleared in a short time.

SIDNEY, Sept. 16.—Residents here viewed the unusual phenomenon of a rainbow at night on Sunday evening, shortly after 8 o'clock.

This clear arc of light was in evidence in the western sky, which was banked with dark clouds. The moon in the east was clear and a shower of rain was falling. The rainbow remained visible for over half an hour.

CONTRADICTION POLICIES

Mr. Mackenzie King has two tariff policies. One is for the West and the other for the East where manufacturing interests are so strong. For the West he promises tariff reductions on a wholesale scale, so as to appease the economic outlook of the farmers. In the East he maintains that the Liberals, if elected to power, will practically leave the tariffs as they are and only alter them so far as conditions may dictate such a course. His address to the electors of Halifax, N.S., is one that he would not have delivered in a Western city. In it he made the following promises:

- (1) The Liberal Government will not injure any legitimate industry by tariff reductions.
- (2) None of the protection granted Canadian industries prior to 1930 will be taken away.
- (3) The Liberal Government will not place any Canadian industry at the mercy of world competition under new conditions which have grown up in the last five years.
- (4) Any reductions made will be made gradually, so as to avoid shock and disturbance.
- (5) The Liberal Government will not expose Canadian producers to dumping from all quarters. The dumping duties will be maintained.

These statements are quite opposite to Liberal policy on the hustings in Western Canada. The truth is that in his efforts to secure votes Mr. Mackenzie King is facing both ways. In the West his lieutenants are proclaiming that "the channels of trade must be freed," that "the markets of the world must be opened up," that "there must be an end of economic nationalism," that "drastic tariff reductions" are a Liberal policy. These predictions in no way dovetail with Mr. King's economic policy as enunciated to a Halifax audience. The explanation is, however, that he has one policy to placate manufacturers and another to please the farmers, and far from being complementary to one another they are contradictory.

THE SUEZ CANAL

The threat of war between Italy and Ethiopia brings the Suez Canal into greater prominence than it has enjoyed for many years. The question has been raised about the possibility of closing that waterway to belligerent ships as a part of a sanctions of the League of Nations designed to embarrass a nation recalcitrant to the decrees of that body. It is, however, a moot point if the League could, by any interpretation of its relationship to treaties in existence before its creation, have jurisdiction over the Suez Canal. Under the Convention of Constantinople signed in October, 1888, it was decreed that the Suez should remain open to all countries in times of peace and war. That Convention by Article 1, provided as follows:

"The Suez Maritime Canal shall always be free and open in time of peace as in time of war, without distinction of flag. The right of blockade is prohibited. No act of war may be committed in the Canal or within a three-mile limit of the ports. Belligerent ships of war may only remain a limited time in the Canal or at the ends of the ports. Powers may keep a guardship at the ends of the Canal but not if they are at war. The signatory Powers, through their agents in Egypt, are to see that the Khedive takes the necessary steps to guard against any threat to the canal."

The signatories to the foregoing were Great Britain, France, Italy, the Netherlands, Russia, Spain, Austria, Germany and Turkey. Under the guarantee of the Suez by the treaties of peace of 1919-1923, Austria, Germany and Turkey renounced their rights; in other words, they withdrew as signatories of the Convention of Constantinople. It would seem that the Constantinople Pact has not been wholly honored. During the Spanish-American War of 1898 the ships of Spain were not allowed to pass through the Suez to the Philippines. Then, again, during 1914 to 1918, "La Compagnie Universelle du Canal Maritime du Suez" surrendered its rights to the British and French Army authorities. In that period Allied and neutral shipping was allowed to pass through the canal after search for munitions and explosives, outside the three-mile limit. At that time there was little or no shipping of the Central Powers at sea.

The League of Nations' argument, apropos of the authority of that body to close the canal in the event of war between Italy and Ethiopia, is that the League is pledged to preserve any state against aggression and must take whatever steps are considered necessary to effect this end. Moreover, the contention is that any treaty inconsistent with the purposes of the Covenant of the League is nullified. In other words, it is claimed that it is possible to interpret the Covenant so as to permit the closing of the canal in order to prevent the transport of troops and munitions designed to wage aggressive war.

OLD COUNTRY COMMENT ON ALBERTA

The London Spectator of August 30, contains two extended comments on the Alberta election. The leading editorial article of the issue is entitled "The Alberta Experiment," and the financial article by Mr. Arthur W. Kiddy carries the significant title of "Political Bureaucracy and Canadian Credit." Upon those Canadians who cherish a sentimental interest in Old Country opinion about Canada and equally upon those who are alive to the practical importance of maintaining and strengthening Canada's financial status in the Motherland, these articles will have a sobering effect. As to the Social Credit electors of Alberta generally and those citizens of other provinces who may have been to some extent blown about by the wind of Social Credit doctrine, it is to be hoped that The Spectator's articles, or suitable extracts therefrom, or at least useful summaries of what they contain, may be widely read and pondered.

The Social Credit Party in Alberta, according to The Spectator, has this to its credit at least, that it is "the first party of monetary heresy" that has succeeded, during the present depression, in winning control of a Legislature or of a Government. How was the thing accomplished? It was achieved by the genius of Mr. Aberhart, who "knew too much of the public mind" to confuse it by trying to make clear the obscurities of the Douglas theory. What he dangled before them consisted of "specific and highly attractive promises."

Of course The Spectator asks a question that has been asked thousands of times in Canada during the election campaign and since the election. Everyone wants to know of Mr. Aberhart, now that he has won the election, where he is going to find the money to pay a hundred and twenty millions to Alberta citizens in doles of $25 per month. There are serious constitutional difficulties in the way of circulating "Provincial" money, and there are practical reasons why an average citizen might be unwilling to place real money on deposit in a "Provincial" bank. "In fact, there is no way in which Mr. Aberhart can possess himself of any newly-created supplies of purchasing power. Apparently he intends to raise the funds by a flat-rate tax on all transactions. But this is not Social Credit or the creation of fresh purchasing power. If this is all that the Aberhart plan amounts to, it is no more than the financing of gigantic doles by a heavy, inconvenient and inequitable tax."

In its leading article The Spectator sums up the situation as follows: "The precise details of the Aberhart proposals, however, are hardly of interest except to the people of Alberta, and, possibly, of the Dominion at large. What is of interest is that a British democratic electorate should be prepared to vote in such overwhelming numbers for a doctrine which has been derided by every professional economist who has examined it."

The foregoing is fairly severe, but the financial expert, Mr. Kiddy, is even more severe in his comments. He points out that the bidding for votes in the Alberta election has had much the same effect upon Canadian credit as the threatened default of the external bonds of Vancouver and the repudiation of the Ontario power contracts. "The London Stock Exchange has expressed its own opinion both as to the workability of the scheme and the nature of its origin by marking down heavily all Canadian Provincial and Municipal obligations, while in Canada feeling has been so stirred that there are predictions of new elections in Alberta before six months are over." As to the feasibility of the "scheme" itself he dismisses that subject by saying that he does not believe for a moment that it is feasible.

Moreover, in dealing with the moral and practical aspects of the question he has these very pungent remarks to make: "To all who had a real concern for the country and who in addition had anything like an understanding of the very rudiments of economics and finance the proposal would be obnoxious for three very good reasons. In the first place, I think every honest and right-minded citizen would ask himself what right he had to expect that as a result of his vote in a certain direction he should receive from the State six pounds a year. In the second place, the whole affair would be a reek of political bribery as to weaken the confidence on the part of the public in the party responsible for the scheme. And in the third place there would, I think, be recognition by very many that the final benefits would be wholly illusory."

GREEN BELT FOR LONDON

The reservation of a green belt around London is in the programme of the London County Council. The rapid invasion by the building up of areas suitable for playing fields has given rise to the problem of supplying breathing spaces for the expanding population. A survey made in 1930 showed that some 5,500 acres of land suitable for open-air recreation, within a radius of eleven miles from Charing Cross, had been built upon during the preceding few years. There were then available 26,500 acres. Three years later this area had been reduced by a further 3,000 acres. The land suitable for the proposed green girdle around the mighty metropolis within a reasonable distance is also being rapidly encroached upon and so the project will be worked out with the neighboring counties for a green belt, the cost to be limited to £2,000,000.

Betcha They Do

Some folks bet their money on the horses,—"an' in a while they tellers what own the grocer, too—W.P."

Speed Up the Exhibits

All officials of the Willows exhibition are to be congratulated upon the seventy-fourth annual fair, and the manner in which two records were broken for the fourth consecutive year. Both attendance and entry figures showed substantial increases, and the "former" under the great handicap of two exceptionally wet days. Improvement of the fair is always sought, and these improvements lie not only in the efforts of the directors, but in the work of the exhibitors themselves, and it is hoped that next year there will be more novel and animated displays in the Manufacturers' and Industrial Buildings.

Some Learn and Some Don't

"It used to be said that the war would make the world safe for democracy, but democracy has not proved safe for the world," says Rev. E. J. Springett, of the British Israel World Federation. Asked to give a short description of John Greenleaf Whittier's poem "Snowbound," the newspaper editor's son answered: "Bay State in icy grip of the snow storm, tomorrow. John H. Almy, also of San Francisco, superintendent of agencies, will lead the congress discussions."

On Polling Day

It has remained for The Observation Car to fill a want long felt by the electors with the following detailed instructions on how to elect candidates of four parties and some non-partisan ones without hurting their feelings:

Cross your fingers; Shield your eyes; Flatter your friends; You're a prize.

Do not bite them; Do not spit them; Say like them; Take a walk—

On polling day.

Up the bidding; To the skies; Quit your kidding; Count the eyes—

On polling day!

Rode Five Winners

Tim Sena, popular jockey now riding at the Willows track here, established a mark that is expected to stand for a long time, when he rode five winners in succession Friday afternoon. Horse racing officials stamp the feat as remarkable, and believe it to be a British Columbia track record.

Harry Rowe, now a owner, and present at the meeting now in progress here, rode five winners in one day some years ago, but as far as can be ascertained they were not successful.

Sena's work is still more remarkable when we stop to consider that he was riding on a mud-covered track. Take the odds, Tim, they are yours, and may you be favored with many more years of successful riding on British Columbia tracks.—S.T.

Do You Know That

The record for punching a bag was made by Tom Greenhill, Australian, in 1928, when he rapped the leather for seventy hours and ten minutes. He averaged forty-five blows per minute—Highest feat ever accomplished was made by Alex. Wickham, native of Solomon Islands, who punched a bag for twenty-four hours and twenty-five minutes. A dog owned by a New Yorker swam continuously for forty-five hours and fifty-two minutes—Gus Simmons, Chicago, an entry in an ice sitting contest, sat on the block for twenty-four hours. He was finally disqualified because he had a temperature of 102°—Greatest durability shown by a horse was made in South America when Chidio II ran 105 miles in twelve hours. Fastest time ever made by a train was 143.75 miles per hour in Berlin, Germany, June 21, 1931.—J.D.

Overheard on the tram: "Ah haven't seen you Joe for years. Where is he now?" "That's never know him. He's gone."

"What's he doing now?" "He's gotten dibbuts."

"Is he under the docther?" "Aye, he's bin train' him w' in solence for 'is' last fower months."

"Oh, aye, it seems to be 'is' regular thing now w' 'is' docther."

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Columbia of September 17, 1885)

Naval News—Vice-Admiral the Earl of Clanwilliam, it is expected, will leave for Halifax on September 18, to resume command of the North Atlantic Squadron.

Personal News—Rev. Mr. Percival returned from Puel Sound yesterday. Mr. South, formerly a farmer at Puel Sound, is now a resident of Victoria.

A Curious Sighting—The schooner "Favorit," which arrived on Monday night, has on board a peculiar animal, captured in Behring's Sea. It is of the size of a dog, and has a head of pure white, with a black spot on each side of its back and stomach, connected with two other bands reaching down the entire body. The skin is very pretty, the white stripes making the glossy black coat into the appearance of a shield on the back, and will be dressed and tanned by Captain McLean and converted into an evening's wear.

Last of Show Boat Events for Season Draws Large Crowd

T. H. Eslick Presented With Illuminated Address From Citizens—Twenty-Five Amateur Entertainers Compete for Valuable Prizes

OUTDOOR entertainment carried out this season as part of the Tourist Trade Development Association's five-year plan came to a sparkling close last evening, with Fred "Slim" Hunter's final amateur night on the Show Boat, attended by a record crowd estimated at 9,000 persons.

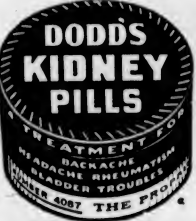

The concert was the thirty-seventh since July, and it is estimated that approximately 161,000 persons attended the series. Of this number, shows of hands taken at various times proved that a good proportion of outside visitors enjoyed the entertainments. Even though the popular Show Boat was in operation a comparatively short time, tourists from Eastern Canada and California said they had heard of the novel form of amusement long before they reached Victoria.

As a surprise feature of the concert, Alderman Walter Lunney, on behalf of 125 members of the Tourist Trade Development Association, presented T. H. Eslick, general secretary, with an illuminated address of appreciation for his efforts in fostering the tourist trade.

DOCUMENT IN COLORS
Done in colors, the framed document was decorated with photographs of the Show Boat, Lillian Grant piping a welcome to visitors, and Mayor David Leeming.

Alderman Lunney declared that Mr. Eslick had become very dear to the citizens of Victoria. Through efforts of the Tourist Trade Development Association there had been a 34 per cent increase in tourist trade this year. He fully believed that the volume of tourist traffic would prove astounding when plans of the association were completed, and hoped that Mr. Eslick's sojourn here would be long and happy.

Noticeably surprised at the presentation, Mr. Eslick responded by tendering his heartfelt thanks to supporters of the association.

The Country Miller Who Pioneered Our Electrical Development

TO a country miller at Georgetown, Ontario, goes credit for building the first long-distance hydro power transmission line in Canada—the forerunner of the power distribution systems which have brought the boon of electricity to our homes and industry.

During the years of this development, another important beneficial service has been built up, as The Continental Life Insurance Company made available across Canada its facilities for protection of dependents against want, provision of income for education and other purposes, as well as for the later years of life.

Mr. Eslick personally introduced Frank Bickford, Donald Macmurchie, Arthur Groves, Mr. Hay, Mr. Hunter and his Rustlers, Douglas Carter, Mr. MacDonald and Jerry Schofield, and thanked them for their part in Show Boat concert.

CRITICS OF WHEAT BOARD ARE SCORED

Circumstances would prove the Government too had been wise in its treatment of the wheat situation, the Prime Minister declared. He accused international traders, aided by some in Canada, of having interfered with the Canadian wheat market and brought about lowered prices in the last four or five months. But establishment by the Canadian Wheat Board of the minimum fixed price had seen a jump in the market level to above that figure.

TRADE NEGOTIATIONS

Dealing with external trade, Mr. Bennett gave some details of the treaty negotiations with the United States. He reviewed the situation in Canada following application of the Hawley-Smoot tariff in the United States. His Government had secured new markets by negotiation of the Ottawa trade agreements, development of home markets and securing a treaty with France, and other treaties.

"I don't know how far we can go, but I am hopeful. I believe this Government, having done so much, should be given a mandate to carry on their negotiations," he said, referring to the United States-Canadian discussion.

Great responsibilities faced the Government when it took office five years ago, rising debt, falling markets, unfavorable trade balances and increasing numbers of unemployed.

The first resolve of the Government had been "to maintain our national existence, our national integrity and secondly to maintain Confederation itself."

The first consideration was that of trade. The greatest closing of markets ever recorded was that of the United States against this country from 1921 to 1930, culminating in the Hawley-Smoot tariff.

ENLARGED MARKETS

To meet the situation created by the loss of markets the Government had worked for and secured the Ottawa trade agreements, which enlarged the United Kingdom market for Canadian products.

The Ottawa agreement alone, "in better and happier days, would have insured the retention of any government for fifteen years," Mr. Bennett declared. "We have increased our exports to Empire countries by 400 per cent."

One reason he had remained in public life had been his fear for the future of those agreements in the face of public utterances of political opponents to the effect they would destroy them.

He went on to outline the Liberal opposition attitude to the Ottawa agreements.

"If you believe it worth while to have a certain market in the greatest importing country in the world, then you will vote for that government that has given Canada a most favored place in the markets of the world."

Charges had been leveled that the present Government had sacrificed Canadian exports. Mr. Bennett read figures to show that shrinkage in exports in the past five years had been proportionately smaller than in most of the important trading nations of the world.

"Why should men go about decrying their own country?" Mr. Bennett said, when accurate world figures were available. Canada had 3.31 per cent of the world's export business in 1929 and had increased that to 3.99 per cent in 1934.

"Claiming for the Nazi regime complete religious tolerance, Goebbels went on to say—" But that was as far as we read.

MAY APPEAL TO HIGHER COURT

Magistrate Finds William Thorne Was Aggressor in Brentwood Assault Case

In the Saanich police court yesterday, Magistrate Jay gave his decision in the Brentwood assault case which has been before that court for some time past. He decided that William Thorne was the aggressor in the case and that J. T. Cockings, part in the matter was that of defending himself. He accordingly found Mr. Thorne guilty and imposed a fine of $25. At the same time, he dismissed the counter-charge laid against Mr. Cockings.

It is expected that the case will be appealed from the decision of the magistrate, being taken to the County Court. W. T. Straith, who appeared for Mr. Thorne, said after the decision had been given that an appeal was being considered. F. C. Elliott acted for Mr. Cockings.

In giving his decision, the magistrate reviewed the evidence, setting out that there appeared to have been a feeling on the part of Mr. Thorne that the other party to the trouble had been trying to take business away from him. There did not appear to have been any foundation for this feeling, the court said. The magistrate advised the two of them to abstain from showing ill-feeling against one another, for as neighbors it would be better to avoid this.

Wedding Is Solemnized At Church in Esquimalt

Miss Frances Agnes Hutchinson and Mr. George William Allen Married Last Evening—Reception in Church Hall—To Live in Victoria

Frances Agnes, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Hutchinson, 843 Colville Road, and Mr. George William Allen, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Allen, 1104 Kings Road, were the principals in a pretty wedding solemnized in the Church of Our Lady, Queen of Peace, Esquimalt, last evening at 8.30 o'clock. Rev. Father A. B. Wood officiated at the solemn service and Mr. Palmer Morgan presided at the organ.

The radiant bride entered the church with her father, who gave her away, to the strains of the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin." She wore a charming floor-length frock of peach silk Chantilly lace, with a full skirt, inset on each side with panels of silk net ruffles, and over the slender bodice was worn a shoulder cape of lace and net ruffles, the waist being encircled with a lace belt fastened with a brilliant buckle. Her hair of peach net was styled in silver, and she wore matching lace mittens and silver slippers, and carried a showy bouquet of Ophelia roses, carnations and swansons.

CHARMING ATTENDANT
Mrs. William Jaffray was her only attendant, gowned in delectable blue silk net, flared and ruffled below the knees, the bodice being fashioned with a round neck, and rows of ruffles formed the sleeves. It was finished with a silver sash, and worn with a turban of matching velvet, and a circular veil and blue mittens, and she carried a sheaf of pink carnations and snapdragons. Mr. Arthur Allen supported his brother, and the ushers were Mr. John Hutchinson and Mr. Harry Sprout.

During the ceremony the bride party stood before the altar which had been decorated in pink and white, with asters, gladioli and ferns, and silver tulle bows marked the guest pews. Mrs. George Scott and girl friends of the bride were responsible for the decorations. As the register was being signed

Mrs. Hutchinson wore for the wedding a smart jacket dress of black triple sheer crepe trimmed with white, and a large black and white hat, and the groom's mother was in an ensemble of beige georgette and a beige and brown hat, and they both wore corsage bouquets of white carnations.

A three-tiered cake set in folds of pink tulle centred the upper table, which was arranged with rosebuds in silver vases. Rev. Father Wood proposed the toast to the bride.

After a honeymoon in the cities of the Sound, for which the bride went away in a brown French silk dress, and a caracol coat and brown accessories, Mr. and Mrs. Allen will make their home in Victoria.

WEDDING GUESTS
Guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. George Neumeier, with Mary-Frances and June-Gloria, from Tacoma; Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Johnston, Duncan; Mr. H. Sprout, Vancouver, and Mr. and Mrs. Brown and family, Duncan.

Alleged Habit-Forming Drug Under Discussion

Local Council of Women Appoints Committee to Investigate Codeine—Government Requested to Make Wild Lily B.C. Floral Emblem

Codeine, an alleged habit-forming drug, was the subject of some discussion at the meeting yesterday afternoon of the Victoria Local Council of Women held in the Y.W.C.A.

The matter was introduced by the president, Mrs. C. C. Spofford, as the result of a communication submitted through the National Council at the instance of the Vancouver Local Council, which has asked for the suppression of the sale of codeine on the grounds that it is a habit-forming and injurious drug. The Victoria Local Council, however, is suspending direct expression of opinion on the subject pending the report of a special committee appointed yesterday to investigate all angles of the question.

The committee comprises, in addition to Mrs. Spofford, Dr. Olga Jardine, Mrs. Menkus, Mrs. Alfred Carmichael and Mrs. J. L. White. It was stated during the discussion that codeine had been removed from the narcotic list at the instance of the Federal Government. Elsewhere in the preamble to the Vancouver Council resolution it was stated that statistics showed that Canada was one of the heaviest per capita consumers of codeine.

A communication from the Victoria Horticultural Society endorsed the Local Council resolution, inspired by the University Women's Club, asking the Government to designate the erythronium or wild lily as the British Columbia Provincial floral emblem. The following committee was nominated to interview the Government: Mrs. E. C. Hart (representing the University Women's Club), Mrs. Hugh Mackenzie (representing the council parks and playgrounds committee), Mrs. J. L. White (Women's Institute), P. R. Leighton (Vancouver Island Horticultural Society), and P. E. Boulter (Victoria Horticultural Society).

In reviewing the correspondence, the secretary, Mrs. A. C. Ross, reported having received letters from the Victoria High School and Victoria College, favoring a suggestion advanced through the council some time ago, asking the different service clubs and other bodies to appoint a committee to go into the matter of student employment. The Local Council had at that time written to the Chamber of Commerce, the Victoria High School, Victoria College, and other groups. No reply had been received from the Chamber of Commerce, but the high school and Victoria College had both favored the opening of an employment bureau for the registration of students. The Business and Professional Women had felt they could not endorse the suggestion without further study. The Sororists wrote saying they considered themselves too small a club to take any action.

SURVEY OF ACTS
Reviewing the recent meeting of the Provincial Council held in Vancouver, Mrs. Spofford specially touched on the recommendation that councils should study the Social Welfare Acts, especially Mothers' Pensions, Infants' Act, Unmarried Mothers' Act and Equal Guardianship Act. This was referred to the committee on laws to make a survey of the acts mentioned and report at a later date to the council.

The president also reminded the council of the suggestion that the old-age pensions be reviewed with the idea of making eligible persons who had been resident in Canada for twenty years, "even though they may have been resident some time elsewhere in the intervening time."

PUBLIC WELFARE
Referring to a resolution emanating from the Vancouver Local Council urging the establishment of a portfolio of public welfare which will co-ordinate all the various phases of social welfare work, mothers' pensions, child welfare, health and mental institutions, Mrs. Spofford expressed the view that the Government was already moving in that direction, and should be given time to readjust some of the departments under the existing portfolio. The meeting expressed its faith as unfaltering to the creation of a new portfolio.

The RKO Distributing Corporation, Toronto, sent their regular announcement recommending certain pictures now on their way through film houses: "Jana," "Return of Peter Grimm," "Three Musketeers" and "Freckles."

Frederic King will conduct and has arranged a programme of the highest order which will be most uplifting and inspiring. The selections chosen are by the finest choral writers, including Wagner and C. H. H. Parry, and on account of the programme being rendered in the church, the selections will be sacred. Mr. King feels that the people in general, because of the conditions of the world at this time, seem to respond more readily to music of a sacred and uplifting character, and has arranged a programme which will attract.

The pianist will be Mrs. Pierre Timp (formerly Grace Allen), well known in Victoria musical circles. Jack Smith will preside at the organ on that occasion and render two selections, also playing the organ accompaniments to the choral numbers.

The proceeds will be in aid of the church organ fund.

A MAN WHO REPEATEDLY BREAKS HIS PROMISES MADE TO A SWEETHEART WILL NOT KEEP FAITH WITH HIS WIFE.
The weekly round-up.
With all this mail piled up, there should be two round-up days in every week.
Anyhow, let's get going!

Grace: Your letter was answered fully some time ago. Either you missed the column or your paper did not print this answer. Your mother-in-law will be a guest in your home. No kind nonsense deliberately offends her guest, and neither does a considerate guest essay to regulate the conduct of the home in which she is a visitor. I would explain the situation to my mother-in-law in her son's presence. If she insists on enforcing her views on your home, meet your friends and entertain them elsewhere during her visit. By taking her into your confidence and asking her indulgence she may be flattered into a confession, whereas cold defiance would shock and anger her. You'd be surprised how liberal some of the blue-stockings become when they're away from home.

Bewildered: Unless you are engaged to the first boy, or have a sentimental understanding with him, it is not his right to censor your friendship list. Should he insist on doing so, you will have to decide which you want more—your independence and your new pal, or the boy you like so much.

Worried: You are one of thousands in like unfortunate circumstances. Apply to one of your local relief. I don't know the laws of your State, but in a majority of our States landlords are prohibited from raising rents and dispossessing unemployed. Surely you have a relief or welfare organization in your community. Explain your situation to them and ask for their help. If you know a citizen of prominence in your town, tell him your story as you have told it to me.

MAKE A CONFIDANT OF DAD
Undecided: If you love the man as you should, you will not permit "others" to poison your mind against him. You will give "others" to understand you are captain of your own ship, and that outside interference is not only unwelcome, but will not be tolerated by you. As long as you and the man you love continue to meet on a fifty-fifty basis, the difference in your ages will be nothing more than an accident of birth, and will have nothing to do with the growth of happiness.

Fifteen: Tell your father what you have told me, and I hope he is fair enough and has understanding enough to say you may choose your friends for what they are, not for what their families are reputed to be. Be as patient as you can with your grandmother. Try to make a pal and a confidant of your father. After all, you are pretty young to be so boy-conscious.

"Bookie": If you love for the man, his love for you, and his straightened financial circumstances cannot discourage his drinking, you had better take your mother's advice and sign off. A man who repeatedly breaks promises made to his sweetheart will not keep faith with his wife. No real woman continues to love a man she cannot respect. What she calls love, is in truth a reckless and selfish infatuation.

Mrs. W. H. Here is a tip for you from a friend in need.
"When my husband lost his eyesight and we had no capital in hand, I managed to scrape together twenty dollars, a month's rent on a dwelling and sleep in our small town. I secured an agency from a dyer and cleaner. The business grew so rapidly I added an agency for a laundry. All our stock consisted of was a long pole, a lot of coat-hangers, and a counter. We're doing fine. So you see it does not require a fortune to get on your feet in business. Here's luck to the widow, and much success.—Mrs. M. G."

CLAIMS BOARD IS IRREGULAR

Injunction Asked Against Continuation of Provincial Marketing Body

The move on the part of the Vancouver Growers, Ltd., to secure an injunction of the court against the British Columbia Vegetable Marketing Board has proceeded to the point where the statement of claim has been served upon the Marketing Board through its counsel, Frank Higgins, K.C., for the growers, has now taken this step.

The defendants in the proposed action are the members of the board: Col. A. W. McLennan, Leslie Gilmore and A. M. P. Pearson, who comprise the British Columbia Vegetable Marketing Board, which it is claimed is not properly constituted. There is also named as a party to the action the firm of G. N. Snow, Ltd., the selling agent of the board.

The board is represented by R. L. Maitland, K.C., while John D. McPhie is counsel for the selling agent.

There is a claim put forward by the plaintiffs in the action for $415.07 for supplies and products which were sent to the defendants.

IMPROPERLY FORMED
It is contended that the defendants prohibited the production and sale of products and were improperly constituted the Marketing Board under the provisions of the Dominion and provincial regulations.

It is further contended that levies were exacted upon products marketed in British Columbia and also with regard to products grown in British Columbia and shipped out of the province to other provinces in the Dominion of Canada.

It is set out that the scheme under which the Marketing Board operates is not in accordance with the provisions enacted to provide for such a body and that an injunction should be granted against the continuation of the operations of the board.

THE DOGS OF WAR

"The dogs of another world-war are being let slip in Africa," wrote an editor the other day.

Did the editor know he was paraphrasing Shakespeare?

He must have. Editors, being editors, know everything.

Dogs-of-war is a familiar metaphor for the horrors, the unbridled passions, the brutal, vicious savagery and stupid animosities which decide armed conflicts between so-called civilized nations.

We owe this grisly figure of speech to Shakespeare. It is from his "Julius Caesar," Act 3, 1, in the dire words of Marc Anthony, who anent the murder of Julius Caesar, cries:

"A curse shall light upon the limbs of men;

Domestic fury and fierce civil strife Shall cumber all the parts of Italy; Blood and destruction shall be so in use,

And dreadful objects so familiar, That mothers shall but smile when they behold Their infants quartered with the hands of war;

That the foul deed shall smell above the earth With carrion men groaning for burial!"

HAIR LOSSES ESTIMATED

STORMY LOVE

A YOUNG NAVY MAN'S ROMANCE BY BELLE BURNS GROOMER

CHAPTER XLIII

So much venom had been loosed when Val tried in vain to get Lia to eat her breakfast that he had to get away and walk. They might, he thought, both come to their senses if they were apart for a space. He had caught up his coat on the way out and with his hands thrust deep in pockets, he started blindly along the footpath that Towner had said circled the lake and led to the other cabins placed at intervals along the shore. At times this trail fringed the water, at others plunged into the still half-light of the woods. It was only after he had gone some distance that he recalled Towner's warning not to wander far from the cabin unarméd.

Still he had no intention of remaining away long. And he was not likely to need a gun in broad morning light. Head lowered, brooding, he strode forward. The sun was higher now and it had grown warmer where a stream gurgled out from the fastness of an aspen grove, he threw himself down in the grass exhausted of twelve straight days of argument was too hellish to consider. It must be avoided. He threw himself back against a tree and lit a cigarette. He had, he admitted, been wrong in forcing her into that icy water. No wonder she had been goaded into a royal rage and had said things she couldn't have meant. Indeed, he very much doubted that she had ever considered divorce until that moment.

The sun and the warm little breeze touched him, his eyes rested on the placid blue lake, and presently he felt the morning calm begin to soothe his distraught thoughts. Paradise lake. He recalled that Towner had said there was a canoe under the cabin; he must use it to explore the tiny bights and inlets of the lake's cove.

When he reached for a second cigarette in the pocket of his tweed jacket, his fingers touched a bit of metal and he brought out a small silver powder box no larger than half a dollar. On the cover he saw and read the name "J. E. Jan" and had given it him to carry that last day they had golfed together. At even this small, mute reminder of her his heart quickened dangerously. Jan? How she would respond to the sheer beauty of the quiet retreat. What a good companion she had always been. A vivid picture came to him of this girl in the bow of the canoe, a brilliant scarf about her golden hair, slim arms dipping the paddle in clear, pure strokes.

But all that was a hopeless dream not even to be entertained, he thought bitterly. He must go his way. Jan here, Jan, gas with laughter, your voice gay with laughter. But all that was a hopeless dream not even to be entertained, he thought bitterly. He must go his way. Jan here, Jan, gas with laughter, your voice gay with laughter. But all that was a hopeless dream not even to be entertained, he thought bitterly. He must go his way. Jan here, Jan, gas with laughter, your voice gay with laughter.

through his body. The strength of his emotions sent him pocketing to his feet. Great gun! How could he bear to surrender Jan forever to another man! As if to escape the burning torture of the thought, he turned to plunge swiftly on along the forest path.

So intent was he on his disquieting reflection that the sun was at midday and he had passed the third of the deserted cabins before he realized his whereabouts and saw that he had traversed almost three-quarters of the way around the lake.

After he had passed the fourth cabin with its boarded windows and air of desolation, the going became suddenly more difficult. In this section a winter storm had swept like a scythe through the timber. Twice Val almost lost the trail and once he encountered so huge a fallen tree across the path that he had to turn back and find another way.

Despite these obstructions, however, he pressed stubbornly forward. Indeed he had almost won through the storm-swept area when he came to a spot where the trees thinned so that he could look across to see his own cabin less than a half mile ahead on the path and, because of the sharp curve of the shore, now nearly opposite him.

The ground here as in other spots on the trail was soggy with damp leaf mould, and as Val strode along, his eyes fastened on the thin spiral of smoke rising from the cabin's chimney, he suddenly slipped and fell heavily.

Knocked from his body for a moment and sprawled on his back, he lay still. When he recovered his wind, he tried to sit up, but found he could not. Even then it took a while to realize his predicament. As he had fallen, his feet had shot from under him; in fact more than half his body had slid forward under the porch of the trunk of a tree that lay a little supported by its flailing, crushed branches at a slight angle across the path. The force of his sliding fall had propelled him through the light space and had apparently wedged one of his feet into the exposed roots of a tree on the other side of the log. Now when he tried to free his foot it felt as if some of the tough root fibres, springing back into place after the driving plunge of the fall, had caught like a trap, gripping across and in the leather laces of his boots. But the thing that rendered him completely helpless was that the tree trunk at that point was so close to his head that it lay across his middle in such a way that he was unable to reach forward to pry the roots apart or to cut the rawhide boot laces with his pocket knife. In fact, he was so close to his head that it was impossible even to raise himself enough to view his plight.

ANCIENT STONE SENT TO CITY

Christ Church Shortly to Receive Gift From Canterbury Cathedral

Christ Church Cathedral, Victoria, is shortly to receive one of the ninety-two stones presented by Canterbury Cathedral, England, to British Dominion and Colonial cathedrals.

Presented last June at a special service at Canterbury Cathedral, at which representatives of the various recipient cathedrals were present, these stones are identical, the design being as shown in the accompanying drawing, which appeared in illuminated form on the souvenir "Order of Service" received by those present at the ceremony at the historic edifice in the early summer.

The cross on the stone coming here is a replica of that designed by Sir Herbert Baker on the south wall of St. Martin's chapel in Canterbury Cathedral, the Cross of Sacrifice and Service with the Canterbury cross, dating from the eighth century and discovered about seventy years ago beneath one of the city streets.

GIFT FROM CANTERBURY

Replicas of that cross, placed on a portion of ancient Canterbury Cathedral stone, were dedicated at the Empire service for ninety-two cathedrals.

SYMBOLS OF DOMINIONS

Around the cross can be seen the symbols of the Dominions: the maple leaf for Canada; the Southern Cross, with the fifth small star for Australia; the anchor with the Southern Cross for South Africa; the design of this recalling that the navigators who rounded the Cape on seeing the Southern Cross took it as a Divine symbol in the sky; and the Southern Cross with the letters N.Z. for New Zealand. Above is the British Lion, surrounded by symbolic cords of All Nations.

The Empire Service, at which Major P. V. Longstaff, authorized by Rt. Rev. C. Schofield, Bishop of Columbia, received the stone designed for Christ Church Cathedral, was a most impressive occasion. Additional to the Archbishop of Canterbury there were present the Archbishop of Melbourne, the Bishop of Natal, the Bishop of Southern Rhodesia, the Bishop of Dover, the Assistant Bishop in Northern Nigeria, and a number of other distinguished ecclesiastics, as well as the Mayor and Corporation of Canterbury and the Mayor of Kent; representatives from the Navy, Army and Air Force, and many civic dignitaries.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

FOODS THAT COMMONLY DIS-AGREE WITH PEOPLE

Now that it is generally known that certain foods cause skin irritation, others pain in the abdomen, others hay fever, asthma and eczema, a new word—allergy—has come into use. Allergy means being sensitive to certain foods.

Patients, often, however, avoid foods because they "disagree" with them when it may be other foods or circumstances that cause distress.

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez and Dr. Corwin Hinshaw, Mayo Foundation, Rochester, Minn., point out that the patient may be mistaken when he states that he cannot eat some particular food. Perhaps the fish was spoiled when really the culprit was the tartar sauce; the cottonseed oil in which the fish was fried, or the pie that was eaten for dessert. Or the food eaten at dinner was blamed when really the offending substance was taken into the body with luncheon or breakfast.

Or the upset was due to overeating or to back pressure from an overloaded large intestine (constipation), to an annoyance over an argument at the dinner table, to an oncoming cold, or even to a slight inflammation in the gall bladder.

The point, then, is that because a food has disagreed under any of the above circumstances it should not be condemned until it has been found to disagree a number of times.

However, there are certain foods that offend or cause symptoms so often, in a large number of people that it is certain that it is the food and not any circumstance that is to blame.

Thus the foods mentioned oftenest as disagreeing with patients are: Onions, milk, cream, ice cream, apples (raw), cabbage, chocolate, radishes, tomatoes, cucumbers, eggs, fats, cantaloupe, beef, beans (dried), watermelon, straw-berries, coffee, cauliflower, pork and can, and should be eaten by nine out of every ten individuals. The foods that are not usually mentioned by those complaining that certain foods disagree with them are: Lamb, gelatine, butter, sugar, rice, barley, arrowroot, tapioca, sago, lima or soy or string beans, cooked apple, pineapple juice, beets, asparagus, peas, Irish or sweet potatoes, egg plant, turnips, parsnip, pumpkin, cooked pears and weak tea.

The list of the foods that agree or do not agree mentioned above was obtained on questioning 500 patients who were for the most part complaining of "indigestion". Certainly for those of us not complaining of indigestion it would be only good sense to eat whatever we like.

WANTS GIFT-DIAMOND RETURNED BY ACTOR

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—John Barrymore, movie star, walked out on Elaine Barrie Thursday night, his nineteen-year-old protegee said today, pocketing an eight-karat diamond solitaire he had given her. She and her lawyer, Aaron Shapiro, issued a joint statement which asserted the fifty-three-year-old actor will return this and other gifts. Both said the cause of the couple's reported quarrel was that "Mr. Barrymore is a genius."

A Parisian doctor thinks applied heat may be beneficial to feeble minds. Maybe the expedition to Ethiopia will come back wiser, if sadder.

MARINE, RAIL and AIR

Vast Unknown Area
Of New Guinea to
Be Mapped by AirBritish Airplanes Will Begin Eighteen Months'
Aerial Survey for Netherlands—Territory
Believed Rich in Oil and Gold

Three British airplanes will begin in New Guinea, towards the beginning of next month, an exploration of 25,000,000 acres of the Dutch-owned western sector of the island, which is probably the largest unknown area in the modern world. Within the next few days the aircraft will leave England on a flight, scheduled to take fourteen days, to Java, whence they will proceed immediately for New Guinea, where landing fields and camps have been established.

The belief that oil and gold deposits of vast extent may exist in the Netherlands New Guinea is the main spring of the enterprise. At present the only known feature of the district to be surveyed is the general course of the large rivers. Aerial photography will provide data for the compilation of accurate maps which will provide information of great value to Government and to the development of forestry and agriculture.

Detailed study of the maps and photographs will enable the forestry expert to trace groups of use, especially those which yield the valuable copal gum. Agriculturists will look for old lake beds and plateaus which may be suitable for intensive development. At the same time, the expedition will assemble a mass of general information about the country, including the distribution of population and the best tracks by which the native villages and settlements can be reached.

MIXED PARTIES

In all, fifty men will take part in the expedition under the leadership of R. N. de Ruiter Van Steveninck, half of them Europeans and half natives. Each camp has a hospital, stores, workshops, laboratories for the photography and survey work and a radio station. Two radio stations are being erected at a distance of 100 miles from the main base; they will be used to provide the essential day-by-day information about weather conditions. The expedition will be away eighteen months.

The three Dragon-Rapide bi-planes have been specially equipped for the work. Each carries a vertical electrically-operated camera, which is housed below the normal floor level and can be used over very wide angle with uninterrupted view. Two auxiliary fuel tanks, each of thirty gallons capacity, are located centrally in the cabin. They are covered for use as tables. A glass-covered aperture in the floor is fitted for use with a new kind of drift-sight instrument; exact determination of drift is of paramount importance in aerial photography to insure accuracy of subsequent mapping. Full "blind" flying equipment and transmitting and receiving radio apparatus are included in the navigational gear. The two Gipsy-Six 200 h.p. air-cooled motors drive metal air screws.

Choice of these British machines, after exhaustive tests, for one of the most ambitious aerial surveys yet planned, is high tribute to the de Havilland company. The Dragon-Rapide is a proved vehicle, employed in aerial work in many different countries and capable of frequent maintenance and attention. Deliveries of Dragon-Rapides at this writing aggregate sixty-three, two of which form the personal fleet of the Prince of Wales.

Leading the formation of three airplanes on its flight to Java will be G. M. Cox, who has been flying for twenty years and is now with the de Havilland School of Flying. The other pilot-in-charge will be flying officer R. Fulford, also of the de Havilland School, and Captain Koppen, a well-known Dutch aviator who first flew in 1914.

UNDERWRITERS
SERVE NOTICEShips Passing Suez and Mediterranean Subject
To Special Risks

LONDON, Sept. 16 (P)—Marine underwriters decided today, in view of the Italian-Ethiopian situation, to give notice that ships and cargo passing the Mediterranean and the Suez Canal must be insured preparatory against war risks or be included in ordinary insurance contracts at special premiums.

Contracts for marine insurance normally provide coverage against war risks, but a clause allows the insurer to exclude war risk by giving ten days' notice. This notice now is given and, inquiries for war risks, brokers, said, will probably be considered at a higher rate.

Insurance on munition cargoes were said to be a prohibitive rate and the subject of special inquiries.

Insurance also quoted against the risk of involving Great Britain in war are around 15 to 1, or 6 percent; France, and any major power, about 20 to 1; and the United States and any major power, 100 to 1.

A slight decrease in tolls collected from the number of vessels transiting the Panama Canal during the past six months in comparison with the same period a year ago is reported from Washington.

Vessels passing through the Canal and contributing to the tolls numbered 2,488 in 1935 and 2,597 for the 1934 period.

Secretary of War Dorn made public the following radiogram from the Governor of the Panama Canal:

Tolls for August, last year, it was explained, aggregated $1,906,821, while vessels numbered 401.

NEW ATTITUDE
ON SUBSIDIESOfficial From New York
Finds Opinions Changing in Europe

NEW YORK, Sept. 16.—Robert C. Lee, vice-president of the Moore & McCormack Company, who has just returned from a visit of several weeks in Europe, states that in his conferences with foreign shipowners he was greatly surprised to find a changed attitude in regard to ship subsidies. Now, he said, the British and others seem convinced that our policy on subsidies is quite proper. They have come to realize that it is merely an equalization of operating charges and that the American merchant marine is on the sea to day. Also, they prefer private ownership to government ownership.

Mr. Lee believes the next Congress will enact new shipping legislation providing direct subsidies, but whether it will be good or bad depends mainly on the co-operation of shipowners with the Government. If owners can be persuaded to abandon their policy of selfishness, he said, all will be well, but if they adhere to this policy as heretofore, they can hardly expect much help from the Government.

COL. FLICK IS MAKING CLAIM

Exchequer Court Sits Here Today With Only One Case on List

The Exchequer Court of Canada will hold a sitting at the court-house here this morning when the case of Lieut.-Col. C. L. Flick vs. the King, will be brought before Hon. A. K. MacLean, the president of the court. Lindsey Crease, K.C., will appear as counsel for the Department of Justice.

This is the only case set down for hearing here. Col. Flick claims damages for neglect in the treatment of war wounds and also alleges failure to detect conditions that might have been expected to have arisen from war wounds.

The well-known former local resident, who is now living at Mayne Island, proceeded by way of a petition of right in his endeavor to establish his claim against the Government. A writ was granted by the Governor-General-in-Council and the matter referred to the Exchequer Court for hearing.

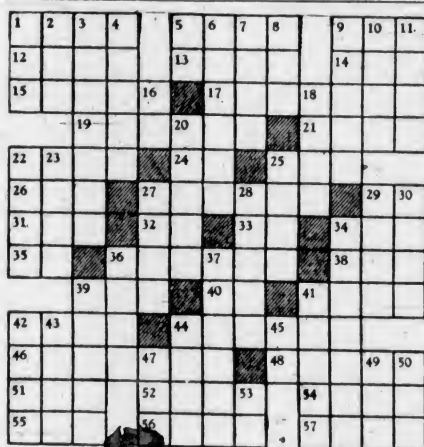

Mr. Justice MacLean, who is accompanied by Ralph M. Spankie, the deputy registrar of the court, arrived here yesterday afternoon, coming direct from Winnipeg. It is expected that the session here will be completed this morning and that the court will leave again this afternoon for Vancouver, where several cases have been set down for hearing.

G. J. Kitta is accompanying the court as court reporter.

Washout Causes Wreck in Delaware

Three trainmen were killed in this washout wreck, and one was injured, as torrential rains swept through Delaware, Maryland and Virginia. This wreck occurred a few miles north of Harrington, Delaware. The right-of-way had been examined by railway officials only a few hours before this culvert crumbled and the oncoming locomotive, one tank car and two box cars plunged into the creek.

MUSICAL COMEDY IS AT DOMINION

Dick Powell and Joan Blondell Play Leading Roles in "Broadway Gondolier"—Strong Cast

Movie makers feel proud when they have one song hit in a screen musical. Now Warner Bros. come forward with a picture in which no less than six songs are confidently expected to become outstanding hits. The picture is "Broadway Gondolier," which comes to the Dominion Theatre today. Powell and Joan Blondell, popular stars of "Gold Diggers of 1933," are reunited. Together with Adolphe Menjou and Louise Fazenda they head the all-star cast. Harry Warren and Al Dubin, accomplished song-writing team, have won wide acclaim for their efforts in previous Warner Bros. production, but with the release of "Broadway Gondolier," it is believed that even greater commendation will be showered upon them.

In addition to the singing of the popular Dick Powell, the catchy air of Warren and Dubin are ably presented by three groups of radio favorites, the Four Mills Brothers, Ted FioRito, with his nationally-famed orchestra, and the Canova Family.

CAPITOL The rich humanity and shrewdness of the picture which made Will Rogers the screen's favorite comedian and one of the country's leading film stars are again abundantly in evidence in his new starring Fox picture, "Steamboat Round the Bend," now at the Capitol Theatre.

COLUMBIA "White Lies," the dramatic Columbia picture of Journalism, which has been packing them in at the Columbia Theatre, plays its last performance tomorrow. With Walter Connolly, Fay Wray and Victor Jory in the featured roles, the picture is expertly portrayed and directed with artistry and vision by Leo Thilgakov. Others in a splendid cast are Leslie Penton, William Demarest, Irene Hervey, Robert Allen and Oscar Apfel.

PLAYHOUSE Not since he made his memorable screen hit in "Alibi," a few years ago, has Chester Morris had such a virile role as he portrays in "Princess O'Hara," showing this week at the Playhouse Theatre. The story, by Damon Runyon, is one of the author's most popular magazine tales, and in it Morris has the part of a daring, debonair sportsman, who smashes his way through to anything he wants. Lovely Jean Parker is co-starred with Morris in this thrilling picture, produced by Universal.

She will play the Glazounov "Serenade Espagnole" instead of the Dvorak and Popper numbers previously announced.

The trio will open the programme with Armstrong Gibbs' "Country Magic, Op. 47," and will close the concert with the four-movement Brahms' Trio in C Minor, Op. 101.

The recital is under the management of Mrs. J. O. Cameron.

PAUL ALTHOUSE WILL SING HERE OCTOBER 1

Concerning Paul Althouse, who will sing at the Empire Theatre here, Tuesday, October 1, and who will be assisted by Querita Eybel, soprano of the San Francisco Opera Company, the critic of The New York Times states:

"Mr. Gatti-Casazza has been generous in the variety and the importance of the Wagner casts of the present season at the Metropolitan Opera House. The performance of 'Die Walkure' yesterday afternoon was signalized by the return of Paul Althouse to the company. He appeared as Siegmund, and he immediately showed his growth as a singer and as an interpretive artist in the twelve years' interval since he has been a member of the company."

"When he returned yesterday, he sounded younger than when he left—youthful in the quality of the tone and his interpretive spirit, but much more mature and authoritative in his treatment of Wagner's melodic phrase, and in diction, and dramatic conception."

OKANAGAN PACKING HOUSES DESTROYED

VERNON, Sept. 16 (P.)—Two fruit packing houses in the Coldstream district near here were destroyed by fire early Sunday. The loss, including machinery and three carloads of apples, is estimated at $25,000, partially covered by insurance. Police said they believed an incendiary was responsible for both fires.

The A. T. Howe packing-house burst into flames shortly after a automobile standing in front of the property. He reported to police after the fire. The Widson packing plant, nearby, caught fire a few minutes later.

FRED STEELE 10-8 CHOICE

Tacoma Fighter Slight Favorite to Defeat Gorilla Jones Tonight

SEATTLE, Sept. 16 (P.)—Freddie Steele of Tacoma, today rated a 10-to-8 favorite to triumph over Willie (Gorilla) Jones, Akron, Ohio, Negro, in their ten-round boxing bout tomorrow night—a battle expected to decide the leading contender of the country for the middleweight championship.

Steele was given the edge by the experts because of his chances of landing a knockout punch and the fact that he gave Vince Dundee, Baltimore's ex-champion, an unmerciful beating here a few weeks ago.

Jones, however, claims he can hit just as hard as Steele, and predicted that if anybody hit the canvas it would be somebody else.

"I shaded Steele a year ago and I'm a better fighter today with a little more weight on me," declared the Negro, who got a draw with the Tacoma boy in their previous scrap. "I want one more chance at the middleweight title and perhaps I'll get it if I can beat Steele."

Mrs. Freeman Tops Gorge Vale Field

Mrs. E. Deane Freeman was the winner of the annual thirty-six hole medal contest for the Wilkeson Cup, played in two rounds over the Gorge Vale Golf course on Saturday and the preceding Saturday. The cup goes to the player with the lowest net score for the two rounds, full handicap being allowed. Mrs. Freeman's two net scores were 73-79—152.

Mrs. D. W. Morry had the lowest net score, 70, on Saturday, September 7, and Miss Peggy Allen, that on Saturday, with a net 77.

On Saturday afternoon, September 22, a ladies' team from Ardmore Club will play at Gorge Vale, the personnel of the two teams to be announced later.

SAYS CAPITALIST SYSTEM FAILING

Prof. J. King Gordon Addresses Meeting of Elks at Esquimalt—Outlines General Situation

In a twenty-minute address to the members of Esquimalt, Professor J. King Gordon, C.C.F. candidate for Victoria, espoused the cause of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, and also gave a brief outline of the decline of capitalism. The meeting was held in the Parish Hall, and T. C. Jones was chairman. Professor Gordon opened his address with a review of the world situation and the position that capitalism had reached. He maintained capitalism was on the decline, and had already reached its crisis. He contended depressions ran in cycles, and the present slump would be the last. Canada, he said, had been caught in the decline of world trade, and there was no signs of a permanent recovery.

POSITION IN STATES

"Capitalism can continue only as long as it can expand. It has ceased to expand and can no longer meet the demands of the times. In capitalism there is no chance for recovery. I have only to use the example of the United States as an example. After two and a half years of experimentation, that country finds itself worse off than it was in 1933, with unemployment increased," the speaker stated.

Professor Gordon claimed the whole of capitalism had become monopolistic in its control and had already forced out of trade the small producer. He said he was in this election fight in order to maintain freedom and democracy for Canada.

"If there is not a change in Canada within a very short time, the country is in danger of drifting towards Fascism and dictatorship." He declared there was only one solution to the problem and that the adoption of a policy of planned social economy under which the whole resources of the country could be set at work to distribute the goods that would be available to all the people. Capitalism cannot plan because it cannot leave the financial interests as they are at present, he said.

Little Stories for Bedtime

Peter Meets a Friend in Black and White

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

As Peter Rabbit paced his of the apple tree in the old Orchard at this time, his voice called him. "It's a wonder that you wouldn't at least say you're glad to see me back, Peter Rabbit," said the voice.

Peter, who had been hopping along rather fast, stopped abruptly to look up. Running along a limb just over his head, now on top and now underneath, was a little bird with a black and white striped coat and a white waistcoat. Just as Peter looked he saw the bird down to the base of the tree and began to run straight up the trunk, picking things from the bark here and there as he ran. His way of going up that tree trunk reminded Peter of one of his Winkie friends. Sleep-Seeep the Brown Creeper.

"It strikes me that this is a mighty poor welcome for one who has just come all the way from South America," said the little black and white bird with a twinkle in his eyes.

"Oh, Creeper, I didn't know you were here," cried Peter. "You know I'm glad to see you. You are such a quiet fellow I'm afraid I wouldn't have seen you at all if you hadn't spoken. Do you know it is always hard for me to believe that you are really and truly a Warbler."

"Why so?" demanded Creeper, the Black and White Warbler, for that is the name by which he is commonly known. "Why so? Don't I look like a Warbler?"

"Ye-es," said Peter slowly. "You look like one, but you don't act like one."

"In what way don't I act like one. I should like to know?" demanded Creeper.

"Well," replied Peter, "all the rest of your family are the unsexiest of your family."

CUBS TURN BACK GIANTS TO CONTINUE STREAK

Warneke Pitches Charlie Grimm's Team to Victory

Windy City Crew Registers Thirteenth Straight Triumph at Expense of Slipping New Yorkers, 8-3—Paul Dean Blanks Dodgers, 1-0—Tigers Win as Yankees Go Under

NATIONAL LEAGUE

CHICAGO, Sept. 16 (AP).—Bill Terry and his New York Giants found out about the rampaging Chicago Cubs today. Back from their winning ways with the gas-house gang of St. Louis, the Giants came to the Windy City and were given an 8-3 licking by the Cubs, who stretched their spectacular winning streak to thirteen in a row and held their two-game first place in the National League.

Over the pursuing Cardinals, the Giants were one and a half games behind them after the defeat.

A fourth-inning blast, far more devastating than they heard in St. Louis, felled the Giants as a wild throng of 30,000 fans watched notably Lonnie Warneke muffle the Terry guns with seven hits. The huge crowd also saw Frank Demaree make a remarkable catch in the fourth inning to rob Mel Ott of a home run that might have given the story a different ending. The Cubs scored in the first inning when Galan doubled to left, trotted to third on Herman's grounder and came tearing home when Lindstrom singled to center. The Giants came back with two runs in the second.

SENT TO SHOWERS

The Cubs went scoreless in the second and third, but in the fourth, Gumbert, Giant rookie hurler, was sent to the showers.

Hartnett and Demaree singled and Hartnett scored when Cavarretta dropped a hit into center field. Hack drove a grounder to Bartlett, who, attempting to catch Demaree at the plate, threw the ball over Mancuso's head. Demaree scored and Cavarretta moved to third on the error to rob Mel Ott of a home run. The Cubs scored again, but Warneke singled to left, scoring Cavarretta and Hack. Galan then belted a double off the Baltimore rookie, scoring Warneke, and Terry sent Gabler in to relieve Gumbert. Billy Herman registered his fifty-second double of the year, scoring Warneke and Galan. Lindstrom filed to Leiber, and Hartnett, batting for the second time, grounded to Bartlett to end the inning.

Batteries: Gumbert, Gabler, Stout and Mancuso; Warneke and Hartnett.

Cardinals Blank Dodgers ST. LOUIS, Sept. 16 (AP).—The second-place St. Louis Cardinals, coming back after losing three straight to the Giants, held their ground in the torrid National League pennant race today as they defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers, 1-0, in a mound duel between Paul Dean and Van Mungo.

Dean, making his first appearance on the mound in six days, blanked the Dodgers with six hits while striking out six men and issuing only one base on balls. Mungo went the distance, allowing only five safe blows and fanning seven, but he handed out four free tickets.

Three of the Cards' hits came in the first inning, however, when they scored the only run of the game. R. H. E. Brooklyn 0 6 0 St. Louis 1 5 2

Batteries: Mungo and Lopez; P. Dean and Delancy.

Small Attendance

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 16 (AP).—The smallest crowd of the season—less than 500—saw Pittsburgh beat Boston, 5-3, today, aided by spectacular relief pitching by Rookie Mace Brown.

Brown relieved the veteran Guy Bush in the third after the Braves had tied up a three-run lead. Boston didn't get another safety until the ninth, when Wally Berger belted out his third double of the game. R. H. E. Boston 3 7 0 Pittsburgh 5 12 0

Batteries: Betts, R. Brown and Spohrer; Bush, M. Brown and Grace.

Breaks Up Battle

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16 (AP).—Sammy Byrd broke up a battle of rookie pitchers today, his eveningning single giving the Cincinnati Reds a 3-2 decision over the Philadelphia Nationals.

His blow came with one out and two on, after Manager Charlie Dressen, of the Reds, juggled pinch-hitters as Prim replaced Bottomley on the mound. It scored Bottomley, who had walked and advanced as Riggs sacrificed and Lombardi walked. R. H. E. Philadelphia 2 12 1 Cincinnati 3 9 1

Batteries: Blinn, Prim and Todd; Grissom and Lombardi.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16 (AP).—Cleveland took the series opener from the Athletics today, 8-5, before a crowd of less than 500, the season's low. R. H. E. Cleveland 8 11 0 Philadelphia 5 11 2

Batteries: C. Brown, Pearson, Hildebrand and Brenzel; Marcum, Fink and Richards.

Tigers Win Again

BOSTON, Sept. 16 (AP).—Detroit pulled ahead to a nine and a half game lead over the New York Yankees in the American League pennant chase today by whipping Boston, 5-3, here, while St. Louis turned back the Yankees in New York.

Tommy Bridges, Tiger hurler, won his twentieth game of the season. The Red Sox outlived Detroit, 10-8, but a Tiger uprising in the fourth spelled defeat for Boston.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES!

WEIGHT SHIFTING CALLS FOR SIDE MOTION OF HIP

The part of the correct swing that seems most difficult for all to grasp is that covering the proper transfer of weight. The proper transfer cannot be made without some side motion of the hips.

Instead of this hip action most players move the entire body from side to side when they do shift. Others rotate without any side motion of either hips or shoulders with the result that the weight always travels in a direction opposite to that taken by the hands. With the body opening the hands, the swing cannot be successful. Concentrate on your hips. Give them all of your attention in the backswing. See that they shift straight to the right as you start the club away from the ball. Keep your head about opposite the ball and you'll experience a new freedom and power in your swing.

Louis Rounding Into Condition

Dusky Joe Louis is training for the Max Baer fight at Pompton Lakes, N.J., and according to the usual report, his spar-mates are going through as blistering a series as ever. Joe takes all training seriously, and he will be in fine fettle when he steps into the ring against the reformed Livermore Larruper. At right, Louis is seen going through a round with the heavy bag, but on the left he has just missed an uppercut aimed at the jaw of Larry Johnson. He won't need to miss many like that with Baer, inset is the sensational contender again, in full fighting pose.

Pete Appleton, ace righthander, pitched a well-earned shutout, while his mates backed him up with a seven-run rally in the seventh. Royals won their semi-final series with the Herd, four games to two, and earned the right to meet Syracuse Chiefs in another four-of-seven duel for the Governor's Cup and another large slice of the play-off pot.

Victoria Football Loops to Usher in Season This Month

Wednesday League Clubs Open Play on September 25—First Division of Saturday League to Commence Three Days Later

Soccer logs tossed away at the end of the 1934-35 season are being brought out again as players in the various local football leagues prepare for their 1935-36 campaigns, and in less than two weeks the Victoria football season will be in full swing.

Officials of the Victoria and District Wednesday Football League, at their meeting yesterday evening in the Victoria board room, made plans for the opening of the season on Wednesday, September 25, with the staging of two fixtures.

J. R. Jones, secretary of the Victoria Football Commission, also announced yesterday that clubs in the first division of the Victoria and District Football League will open play on Saturday, September 28, with a twin bill at the Royal Athletic Park.

The closing date for the filling of entries has been extended until Monday, September 23, when the league officials will again meet in the Victoria board room and make final plans for the opening matches. Officials stated yesterday evening that they are in hopes of securing a sixth club to replace the Garrison, non-starters in the 1935-36 cup drive.

Ralph Alcock, well-known referee, was appointed to fill the vacancy on the executive created by the resignation of Ivan S. Day. In a letter to the association Mr. Day regretted being unable to take the office because of pressure of business, but offered his services if they should be needed in an emergency.

While there will be the usual amount of new players making their debut in the Wednesday League, the general line-up of the clubs will be little changed from last season, team managers announced.

Spencers, last year's champions, are expected to start almost intact, while reports from the Hudson's Bay Club state that some new material will wear the green and gold sweaters. Kreskes, who played under the colors of the Macabees in the 1934-35 campaign, will trot out one of two new players, while the James Bay Wanderers, formerly the Outer Wharf Rangers, will have the same line-up as that which finished the 1934-35 season.

The Saturday League line-up will be identical with that of last season, Victoria City, Saanich Thistles, Esquimalt and Victoria West have all entered the first and second divisions, and will be in there fighting for the honors when the curtain goes up. The first division eleven will open on Saturday, September 28, when two games at the enclosure, and the second division clubs will see action two weeks later.

Saanich Thistles, who literally cleaned up in the first division last season, will have their championship squad practically intact. Victoria West and Victoria City are expected to have some new material while Esquimalt, according to pre-season reports, will have a number of last year's Garrison men on their line-up. After their miserable showing last season, the management of the Esquimalt team is anxious to battle its way back into the good graces of the fans, and feel with the addition of the stars from the Army eleven they will be able to make a better showing this year.

ARMORING BOMBERS

LONG RANGE BOMBING MISSIONS PERFORMED BY ENEMY AIRCRAFT ARE ALWAYS WAYLAIN BY ENEMY FIGHTERS. THEY MUST BE ABLE TO DEFEND THEMSELVES WITHOUT THE HELP OF THEIR OWN FIGHTERS.

IT HAS BEEN SUGGESTED THAT THE ARMORING OF SUCH VITAL POINTS AS CREW QUARTERS AND FUEL TANKS, WOULD GREATLY REDUCE THE HAZARD OF ENEMY ATTACKS.

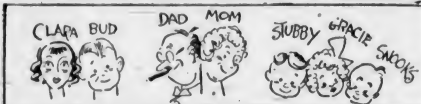

DURING the late war, bombing missions into enemy territory were usually given the support of formations of fighting planes whose duty it was to ward off the attacks of enemy fighters waiting at the target. Today the modern bomber has a much greater range than our fighting planes and can go much deeper into enemy territory. Fighting planes cannot, therefore, be used as protection and the bombers must look after themselves.

Vicious fighting always accompanies these deep raids. The bombers will be tracked by sound locators and the enemy fighters will be guided to the bomber formation by radio. Soon the bombers find themselves attacked from all sides by angry wasp-like fighters spraying machine gun bullets. The bombers have their own protective fire, but since they are usually outnumbered, their rear gunners cannot engage all of the attackers simultaneously and an overly brave enemy fighting pilot might slip in with the killing thrust. It has been suggested that bombers give up part of their bomb-carrying capacity in favor of armor plate about such vulnerable points as crew quarters, gas tanks and engine nacelles. German low-flying planes attacking infantry in the late war used armor, and it was very disconcerting to the Allied pilot shooting at them, to see their tracer bullets bouncing harmlessly off the German plane which went calmly on its way.

Many Property Owners Erecting Homes With Help of Loans Backed by Government

With many Californians taking advantage of the new Federal rehabilitation programme, extensive residential building is now in progress. According to W. M. ments of the St. Paul Fire & Marine Insurance Company, Mercury Insurance Company, Royal Exchange Underwriters, and St. Paul-Mercury Indemnity Company.

Under the Government scheme, property owners may borrow money on small interest and long terms from the banks for home building. These loans are backed up by the Federal Government, Mr. Sidebotham explained.

With this programme proving popular, business generally on the Coast is better, Mr. Sidebotham stated.

Cowichan Autumn Fair Prize Lists Announced

Annual District Event Concluded Saturday—Rain on Friday Lowered Attendance, Otherwise Affair Was Success—Games Are Held

DUNCAN, Sept. 16.—The Cowichan Autumn Fair this year was a success, except financially, the drenching rain on Friday seriously affecting the attendance, which the good attendance on Saturday did not counterbalance. Fortunately Saturday was fine and all outdoor events were run off successfully. The gymkhana was particularly good, as a number of fine jumpers have been developed in the district and the standard of horsemanship is high.

Great interest developed over the tug-of-war, which was won by the Victoria Police team after a long hard pull against the Cowichan Indians, when superior coaching won the day. The Victoria coach said after the event that his team had the hardest pull of the season here. Cowichan Indians placed second, with Hillebrand third. The annual loggers' sports were well contested and drew many interested spectators.

The Highland events again proved popular and entries were numerous. The folk dancing, Saturday evening, by children of the Duncan Consolidated School, under the direction of Miss Anne Staples, was another enjoyable feature of the fair, which finished with a dance which drew a record attendance. The results follow:

FAIR RECHECK CHANGES TOTAL

Only one record, and not two, was established by the Willows Exhibition. It was learned yesterday when a recheck of the figures by fair officials disclosed that instead of there being a gain in the paid admissions, as announced, there was a decrease of 204.

Entries, however, were greater in number than last year.

The daily paid admission record for this year compared with last year is as follows:

	1935	1934
Saturday	2,803	1,112
Monday	2,672	1,897
Tuesday	4,260	4,170
Wednesday	11,619	9,338

Saturday	2,631	5,010

CLOCK CONTEST IS CONCLUDED

Five Persons Participate in Gifts Distributed Exhibition Week by Little & Taylor

Five visitors to the Willows Fair last week will receive gifts from the jewelry firm of Little & Taylor as a result of a contest held by that store in connection with its display in the Industrial Building.

The winners of the three gifts offered in connection with the contest are Mrs. E. Cottle, of 309 Mary Street; Mrs. Thomas H. Moore, 30 San Juan Avenue; and Mrs. C. M. Connon, 3915 Hastings Street East, Vancouver. Two others will receive special gifts.

In celebration of their silver jubilee, Little & Taylor conducted the contest, winding up an eight-day clock whose dial had been changed to read the months of the year and the number of days.

The contestants merely put their date of the wedding anniversary on a card and dropped it into a box. The date that the clock indicated when it stopped determined the winners of the contest. The clock stopped with its hands pointing to April 25. Approximately 5,000 persons participated in the competition.

What Today Means

"VIRGO"

If September 17 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m., and from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 7:30 to 9:30 a.m., from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m., and from 10:30 p.m. until midnight.

Liberality of thought may prove to be a determining element in some of this day's discussions. Bigotry, or any display of fanatic zeal, is likely to have a poor reactionary effect. It is advisable for those engaged in industrial lines to try to use amiable measures, rather than drastic ones, in any efforts made to gain a desired result. Timidity has no place in the day's affairs; if progress in the right direction is to be made, so if you are wise face courageously any that might come up. A friendly attitude should be maintained with people you meet in a social way. It will be poor judgment to allow personal prejudice to prompt you to slight anyone. Married and engaged couples, and those who are in love, will do well on this date if they make sure that selfishness dominates their motives and actions.

If a woman and September 17 is your birthday, you probably have a great deal of latent ability, which can be successfully developed. Guard against allowing a lack of exertion to cause your talent to lie dormant. It might be well to remember that curiosity, if directed in the proper channel, can be the means of gaining valuable knowledge, but if it is wrongly used, may bring trouble as well as resentment. If you will concentrate on regulating your own affairs, your progress in a social and business way is likely to be surprising. Your financial independence may be achieved through the concert or legitimate stage, educational work, journalistic endeavors, or your selling ingenuity. Through matrimony may bring you much happiness.

The child born on September 17 generally, when it reaches its teens, requires a helping hand to guide it in the right direction in so far as the selection of a commercial or professional career is concerned. Started on the right path it may accomplish big things.

If a man and September 17 is your natal day, never rest until you are thoroughly satisfied that you are engaged in the right line of activity for you to fully demonstrate your real ability, educational or geological work, writing, engineering, painting, public speaking, or some specialized branch of commercial life, probably will enable you to see your dreams come true. Through matrimony you could be able to secure all the desired comforts of a home.

U.S. NAVY FLYER KILLED

BANK RATE INCREASED

AMSTERDAM, Netherlands, Sept. 16 (AP).—The Bank of the Netherlands today increased its discount rate from 5 per cent to 6 per cent. The rise was due to the desire to protect gold stocks and check the outflow of gold which started during the week-end.
